Alley's New Look Is Designed To Encourage Use By Pedestrian . . .

Downtown Project Is Unique

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Property owners Thursday will announce plans for a project unique to downtown Lincoln — the renovation of a mid-block alley into an appealing passageway designed to encourage pedestrian use.

The joint effort will be concentrated on the east-west alley between O and P, 12th and 13th. The alley will be known as "Rampark Lane.

Cost of the project has been estimated at $20,000 and will be shared by property owners abutting the alley.

Cedar Latticework

A highlight of the remodeling will be the installation of cedar latticework over the alley pavement at a height of about 12 feet.

The overhang will extend from the 13th St. sidewalk to a point 102 feet west. According to city building inspection records, the cost of the overhang is estimated at $7,000.

In addition, store owners will install new ornamental lighting fixtures and color-coat the backs of their stores to create an artistic effect.

Wires To Go

All overhead wiring will be removed by the Lincoln Electric System as part of its over-all downtown program to place overhead wiring underground.

The alley surface will be treated, although plans for that are not definite. There is a possibility the alley will be surfaced with colored asphalt.

Rampark Lane has not been vacated by the city and will remain a public way. Truck traffic will remain, but the project is designed for more eye appeal and to encourage pedestrian use.

7-Year Pursuit

The idea apparently originated about seven years ago by a Lincoln businessman who said he has pursued it since.

"I'm glad they're going to do it," he said.

"We have people walking from store to store, to the theatres, to the bank, to their cars — all in the surrounding area.

"Why not encourage them to use the alley by making it more attractive? An alley is what you make it."

Plans for the renovation project were drawn by Clark and Enersen, Olsson, Burroughs and Thomsen.

Details will be announced Thursday at a reception given by the Lincoln Center Development Association.

Copter Crash Kills All Aboard

Compton, Calif. (AP) — A helicopter carrying youngsters and adults to Disneyland broke apart and plunged in pieces into a playground Wednesday, killing all 21 aboard. The dead included the grandson of the airline's president.

It was the second crash of a Los Angeles Airways copter carrying Disneyland visitors in three months. Twenty-three died in May at nearby Paramount, the worst commercial helicopter disaster in the United States.

The company suspended all flights after Wednesday's crash.

Grandson Dead

Among the dead was Christopher Belinn, 14, grandson of Clarence Belinn, president of the helicopter shuttle service.

Mrs. Reid Wasson, an aunt, said Christopher had been visiting his grandparents in North Hollywood and was returning home. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawretnce Belinn of Santa Ana, which is near Disneyland.

The twin-turbine copter was the samet type as the one which crashed May 22 on a flight to Los Angeles from Disneyland.

Twenty-one bodies were pulled from the charred and crumpletd wreckage by late Wednesday afternoon, Coroner Thomas Noguchi said. Most were found strapped in their seats. The crash site was the only open area within miles. No one on the ground was injured.

Executive Speechless

"We just plain don't know what to say or where to begin," said Harry Martin, assistant corporate secretary for Los Angeles Airways.

"Last time (after the Paramount crash) the FAA, the CAB and all the governmental agencies gave us full clearance. We were safe. We still don't know what caused the May 22 crash."

The two disasters occurred within four miles of each other. The company said the cause of Wednesday's crash also was a mystery. The Federal Aviation Administration began an investigation.

Most eyewitnesses indicated there was no explosion, smoke or fire until the helicopter hit the ground. One of the mechanics, Don Rosteing, said he heard pops that sounded like an engine backfiring before the craft broke apart.

Oshkosh Receives Downpour

Oshkosh (AP) — Rain amounting to 5.13 inches fell in the Oshkosh area Wednesday, almost four inches of it between noon and late afternoon.

Dom Merlo, who has been the government weather observer for 15 years, said it was the heaviest downpour in so short a time in his records.

The downpour caused creeks to go out of their banks and several county roads were closed.

However, no main highways were blocked.

In a rain shower Wednesday night, Lincoln received .05 of an inch, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau at the airport.

France's Pilots Declare Boycott

© New York Times Service

Paris — The French National Union of Airline Pilots Wednesday declared a boycott of Algeria, beginning next Monday, to protest against the detention of the seven Israeli crew members of the hijacked El Al Boeing 707.

The step, taken in accord with Tuesday's decision by the International Pilots Federation, placed the French government in a dilemma.

If it resists the boycott, observers noted, it will be accused of abetting what the pilots have called an act of piracy. If it acquiesces, the boycott seems bound to damage France's prestige in the Arab world, and its touchy but important economic and political relations with Algeria.

Police Disciplined For Unauthorized Use Of Tear Gas

Baltimore, Md. (AP) — Police Commissioner Donald D. Pomerleu has disciplined five patrolmen for unauthorized use of Chemical Mace and tear gas — against each other.

Wade H. Poole, deputy commissioner, said the five policemen lost some time off for "conduct unbecoming an officer" during their skylark in the parking lot of the Eastern District station.

"They maced each other and set off some tear gas in a patrol car," said Poole. Mace is a spray that incapacitates a person.

ENLARGED COVERAGE PROPOSED

. . . By President Johnson

Houston (UPI) — President Johnson told a medical convention Wednesday Medicare had become America's "fifth freedom" and proposed extending its concept to children as well as old people.

"You can call this plan that I propose to the Congress and that I'm going to propose to the people in the years ahead even more often — you can call it by whatever name you wish,' Johnson told the predominantly Negro National Medical Association.

"Some call it Medicare, some call it children's aid, and some call it 'kiddiecare.'"

'Greatest Triumph'

In a folksy, rambling speech that seemed to mark the return of LBJ to the political stump for the first time since March 31, the President said Medicare was the "greatest triumph of our time."

But he said the professon must guard against tainting it by increased fees and medical costs.

"I want to beg of you and plead of you as the leader of our nation — please ask all of our people not to let it become a racket, because it is too good a thing to be abused," he said.

The President, in addition to his call for the protection of the Medicare program as the "fifth new freedom in America," went to great lengths to defend his five years in office.

Cites Statistics

He repeated all the domestic accomplishments in the field of health, housing, employment, education and civil rights, citing statistics showing more had been done in these fields since he has been in office than by any other president before him.

After citing these statistics, Johnson asked the group, "You think the President doesn't know what's going on in this country?"

At one point the President went into a long recitation of the list of Negroes he has appointed to high federal posts since taking office. After citing the list he said, "I could go on all afternoon discussing firsts with you."

Few Negroes

Following his appeal for unilateral health care, the President issued an indictment of the nation's educational system for the small number of Negro doctors in this country.

"Consider this fact: Among white citizens, one American in 670 becomes a physician. But among Negroes, only one in 5,000 becomes a doctor,' Johnson said. "This is a tragedy. This is a complete, absolute indictment of our educational system that I'm giving to you today."

The President said American universities must be persuaded to "stretch their resources" and give special atttention to training Negroes in the health profession.

Much of the President's address was a repeat of the Great Society's statistics he has been reciting from one end of the nation to the other in defense of his administration in the past year.

Not once did he mention the war in Vietnam or the administration's foreign policy.

14 Nebraska Demos Prefer Humphrey

. . . On First Ballot At Convention

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Fourteen of Nebraska's 30 delegates to the Democratic National Convention now indicate a first ballot preference for Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Four delegates currently support Sen Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota for the presidential nomination, and two delegates plan to vote for Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, the newest entry in the Democratic presidential contest.

Three Committed

Eight delegates are unwilling to indicate any preference at all. The Star has been unable to contact the other two.

The convention opens in Chicago Aug. 26.

Only three members of the Nebraska delegation are legally committed to a candidate, and each of them is pledged to McCarthy.

Few of the remaining delegates who are now leaning to one candidate or another are willing to describe themselves as irrevocably committed to their current preference.

Three of Humphrey's 14 supporters are also unwilling to express their preference publicly until they reach Chicago.

The current list of preferences, as indicated in answers to a questionnaire mailed to all delegates by The Star:

Humphrey: Jerry Kromberg of Lincoln, Donald McGinley of Ogallala, Kurt Rasmussen of Omaha, Hans Jensen of Aurora, Bryce Bartu of Lincoln, David Thomas of Lincoln, Donald Jensen of Millard, Marvin Werve of Omaha, Richard Swenson of Omaha, Jack Vaughn of Holdrege, Virginia Pavelka of Valentine.

McCarthy: David Evans of Omaha, Gene Pokorny of Howells, Thomas Dean of Scottsbluff, Don Searcy of Kearney.

McGovern: Jan Farrell Healey of Lincoln, Jacqueline Nielsen of Omaha.

Most of the responses were received prior to McGovern's announcement of candidacy.

New York Times News Summary

Three Months In Paris Find Peace No Closer

(c) New York Times News Service

Paris — The United States and North Vietnam ended their first three months of official conversations on Vietnam in the same sharp disagreement on which they began. The rival negotiators blamed each other for blocking progress in the talks. (More on Page 2.

Neutralization Plan Proposed

New York — Four professors at Princeton University's Center of International Studies have proposed a plan for the neutralization of South Vietnam. They believe the plan contains principles of compromise acceptable to the U.S., North Vietnam and the National Liberation Front. Their proposal includes the withdrawal of U.S. and North Vietnamese troops, the temporary stationing of an international peace-keeping force and the creation of a new government that would accept a ban on political or military alliances.

Pilots Union Boycotts Algeria

Paris — Thr French National Union of Airline Pilots declared a boycott of Algeria effective Monday to protest the detention of seven Israeli crew members of the hijacked El Al Boeing 727 in Algiers. (More on Page 1.)

Egypt Pressing For Peace

Nicosia, Cyprus — The United Arab Republic has, according to Western diplomats in Nicosia, been privately pressing a proposal to end its 20-year-old state of belligerency with Israel through "delarations of peace" that would be endorsed by the United Nations Security Council and four great powers.

Break For Biafra Awaited

Washington — Officials are hoping for a major move in the next few days to break the deadlock over relief supplies for Biafra. While still cautious, they believe that world opinion and steady diplomatic pressure are having their effect on the Nigerian federal government and the Biafran secessionist region. (Another Story on Page 2.)

Communists To Compete

Vienna — The Soviet Union announced at the opening session of the United Nations conference on exploration and peaceful uses of outer space that it "and other socialist countries" will establish their own satellite communications network to compete with the United States-sponsored international telecommunications satellite. (Another Story on Page 2.)

Johnson Says U.S. 'Healthy'

Houston, Tex. — President Johnson disagreed with political critics who claim the nation is seriously ill and told the annual convention of the National Medical Association that "America, I believe, is essentially healthy." (More on Page 1.)

Texan Finger Seen In Pie

Washington — The Democratic presidential candidates and their aides think that the National Convention, which opens in Chicago Aug. 26, is being set up in accordance with orders from President Johnson, but differ on whether the White House is favoring the candidacy of Vice President Humphrey.

Convention Word Still 'Closed'

Chicago — Opponents of a "closed" Democratic convention continued to be frustrated. John B. Criswell, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee and executive director of the convention, disclosed that the general public will be excluded from the Chicago gathering.

Convention Changes Urged

New York — Vice President Humphrey proposed that floor demonstrations be abolished and nominating speeches be sharply limited at the Democratic convention. (More on Page 26.)

HHH Complains, Labor Acts

New York — Following a complaint from Humphrey that John J. Gilligan, the Democratic Senate candidate in Ohio, was not supporting his bid for the presidential nomination, organized labor has cut off funds for Gilligan's campaign.

McCarthy Backs Housing Plan

Washington — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy proposed a new national housing program, saying that existing programs helped only the right and the middle class and were "insensitive" to the needs of the poor. (More on Page 42.)

Veep Candidates Numerous

Atlanta — Democratic chairmen from six Southern states intend to back seven men for the party's vice presidential nomination. The seven are Govs. John Connally of Texas, John McKeithen of Louisiana, Buford Ellington of Tennessee and Robert McNair of South Carolina; former Govs. Carl E. Sanders of Georgia and Terry Sanford of North Carolina, and Sen. George Smathers of Florida.

Cash Said 'Loaned'

Washington — Walter J. Sheridan, a former Justice Department aide to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has testified that Stephen Smith, Kennedy's brother-in-law, provided $3,000 in cash that was "loaned" to Robert Vick, a former government witness in the trial of Z. T. Osborn Jr., a Nashville lawyer for James R. Hoffa. The money was returned two days later. (More on Page 10.)

Aviation Industry Warned

Washington — Alan S. Boyd, the secretary of transportation, warned that the federal government will impose limitations on air traffic at congested airports unless the aviation industry imposes voluntary limitations. (More on Page 26.)

Narcotics Claim Most Lives

New York — Dr. Milton Helpern, chief New York City medical examiner, reported that diseases related to narcotics addiction cause more deaths among New Yorks 15 to 35 years old than murder, suicide, accidents or natural causes.

Hanoi Demand Said Unrealistic

Paris (AP)—U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman dismissed as "unrealistic" Wednesday Hanoi's insistent demand for an unconditional halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and accused the North Vietnamese of planning a new and large attack in South Vietnam.

Ambassador Xuan Thuy defended his North Vietnamese government's position, saying the demand was "legitimate, realistic and reasonable."

He blamed the Americans for the deadlock in the talks, and repeated his warning that the two sides could move no closer to peace until U.S. air raids on the North were stopped.

Thus, after 17 meetings over three months, the peace talks still appeared to be stalled. The chief point at issue, as it was when the discussions began May 13, was the question of bombing.

Harriman said President Johnson could not order a complete halt of the bombing as long as North Vietnam continued to pour troops and material into South Vietnam for "another round of large-scale attacks."

He declared to reporters after the four-hour meeting: "I told them the President was ready to stop all the bombing so we could get on with the talks and I held them responsible for this delay because of their unrealistic position.

Romanian Sees No Reason For Intervention Threats

Vienna, Austria (AP) — Romanian party leader Nicolae Ceausescu said Wednesday there could be "no justification for armed intervention in the internal affairs of any Warsaw Treaty member country" as he prepared to visit Czechoslovakia's liberal leaders in Prague.

He did not mention Czechoslovakia specifically, but it was obvious he referred to the threat of intervention by the Soviet Union and other hard-line countries prior to the Bratislava summit conference Aug. 3.

"The observance of the independence of each party, and noninterference in internal affairs are fundamental conditions for building up relations of equality and mutual trust among the Communist parties," he told graduates of the Bucharest Military School.

"Everything must be done to put an end to the state of tension in the Communist should be solved by direct negotiations."

His speech was reported by movement . . . Differences the official Romanian news agency Agerpres.

Ceausescu said the Romanian Communist party had supported the new Czechoslovak leadership from the beginning, and added that his visit to Prague would further strengthen Romanian-Czechoslovak friendship.

He said the Romania people "particularly appreciate the alliance" with the Soviet Union. But he stressed that Romania would intensify its own production of armaments and improve the fighting technique of its troops to support the Communist countries in case of an "imperialist" attack.

Ceausescu and his delegation will arrive in Prague Thursday for a three-day stay.

LBJ Okays Fine For Seizing U.S. Vessels Offshore

Austin, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson has signed into law a bill designed to penalize countries which fine owners of U.S. vessels seized more than 12 miles off their shores.

Foreign aid in the amount of the fines would be withheld from those countries if the fines are not returned within 120 days of a demand from the secretary of state.

The act, which is not retroactive, was signed into law less than a week after Ecuador seized four tuna boats from San Diego, Calif. and fined them $202,000. The boats were 21 to 25 miles offshore.

Soviet Official Urges Cooperation In Space

Vienna, Austria (AP) — A Soviet United Nations official said Wednesday "the space age, like the atomic age, will witness waste and danger" unless the world acts soon to reap the practical benefits to be gained from space exploration.

He called for stronger cooperation between the major space powers, the United States and the Soviet Union, to make sure all nations share the results of space technology.

Leonid M. Kutakov, under secretary-general for U.S. Political and Security Council affairs, addressed delegates from 74 nations at the opening session of the first United Nations Conference on the Exploration and Peaceful Uses of Outer Space.

Another speaker, Homer E. Newell, associate administrator of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said space sciences can contribute greatly to world unity through improved communications weather forecasting and survey of earth resources.

"Space techniques give us an opportunity to learn more of the fundamental processes of life itself," Newell said.

Kutakov sounded the keynote of the conference when he stated: "It is everybody's hope that as the first decade of space was devoted mainly to developments in space science and technology, the next decade will be known for the application of these developments for the benefit of mankind.

"We are hopeful that discussions here will help to dispel the impression that outer space is unrelated to the earthly problems of nations."

Newell said that scientific exploration of space has made possible space communication and weather systems.

"Greater fundamental understanding of the atmosphere and its behavior are especially significant now," he said, "When we wrestle with the possibilities of modifying weather to serve practical needs such as enhancing lightning hazards, protecting crops from storm damage and perhaps, in the more distant future, even taming the hurricane and tornado."

Nigerians Launch Pincers Move

Lagos, Nigeria (AP) — The Nigerian high command has launched two columns of commandos in a pincers movement against the headquarters of Biafran rebels at Aba, informed sources said Wednesday.

The drive could be the start of an all-out offensive for a quick military solution to the 13-month-old civil war that successive peace conferences in Kampala, Uganda, and Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, have failed to settle.

At least two brigades of Nigeria's 3rd Marine Commando Division — perhaps 6,000 men — were reported pushing north from the Port Harcourt sector toward Aba, a city of 130,000 about 40 miles inland.

3 More Killed In Car Crashes

. . . Wauneta Pair, G.I. Woman Dead

By the Associated Press

Three more persons have died in Nebraska traffic accidents, including two persons in a three-vehicle accident a mile south of Enders in southwestern Nebraska.

The deaths raised the state highway fatality count for the year to 259, compared with 160 on Aug. 14 last year.

Killed Tuesday on Routes 6 and 61 in Chase County were Lee Kitt, 79, of Wauneta, and his wife, May, 78.

The State Patrol said Kitt's car was involved in a collision with a pickup truck pulling a trailer, driven by Dean Smith of Arvada, Colo., and a car driven by Bruce Haiback, 23, of Denver, Colo. Neither Smith nor Haiback was seriously hurt.

Found In Wreckage

Mrs. Thomas Davis, about 30, of Grand Island, was found dead Wednesday in the wreckage of her car on a county road near the Hall-Merrick County line, east of Grand Island.

State Trooper John Cox said she was alone in the car when it apparently failed to make a turn on a dead-end road and crashed. The mishap was discovered about 3 a.m.

The patrol said Mrs. Davis was driving a station wagon which was westbound at the time of the accident. It left the road and came to rest against a tree in a ditch. A meat cutting machine which was being transported in the rear of the station wagon was thrown forward by the impact and struck Mrs. Davis in the head.

Ranch Area Feels Effect Of Inflation

. . . Youths Told

Halsey — Despite the fact that the Nebraska Sandhills region is one of the greater cattle raising areas of the world, inflation, increased operating expenses and spiraling land costs make it impossible to buy Sandhill grazing land and pay interest on the investment.

This comment by Forrest Lee, Brownlee rancher, was addressed to delegates attending the second annual National Agricultural Youth Institute in session at the 4-H Camp here Wednesday.

"Many of us are living on equity built up in cattle and land over the years," Lee said. And he noted that "good ranchers are just hanging on" by borrowing money and enlarging their holdings in cases where more acres can be purchased and operated without additional outlays for equipment and labor.

In answer to a question from a delegate, Lee said that at this time cow-calf operations could be established more economically in eastern Nebraska where carrying capacity per acre of pasture is greater.

Ranch units, which the delegates were to view Wednesday but changed to Thursday because of rain, "are not a rich man's hobby, but honest to God working ranches," Lee said.

Participation Suggested

He suggested the possibility of delegates to future institutes "getting their hands greasy" by actually participating in hay making or other ranch operations.

"Ranching isn't just getting on a horse and riding off over the hill," but involves a lot of farm machinery work, fence building, and other less glamourous but necessary chores, he reminded them.

Lee noted that there are 100 miles of fence to maintain on his own ranch, which he classed as a medium sized operation.

In another talk Wednesday, Dr. Karl Gardner, associate dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, told delegates that both people and jobs become obsolete. Only a sound basic education permits a man to grow and to change as jobs change, he said.

Dr. Gardner discussed "a job for life." He then guided the delegates in filling out a 10-year plan toward selecting a career and the type of education needed to prepare for it.

On Thursday morning the delegates will tour the Neal Keller Ranch near Purdum.

Westroads Area Opens In Omaha; Addition Studied

Omaha (AP) — The 1,145,000 square foot Westroads Shopping District — reputedly the 8th largest in the nation — had its formal opening Wednesday.

Sixty-eight stores have opened in the center.

Developer John Wiebe said he is now studying whether to build an addition that would add 70,000 to 100,000 square feet of floor space to the center. He estimates that retails sales at the center will total $50 million next year.

As Westroads now stands, Wiebe figured it would be filled by the end of the year, with 120 tenants. A proposed addition would increase that number. When fully occupied, he estimates the center would employ between 3,000 and 4,000 persons, depending on the season.

AUNT MARTHA ALDRICH . . . at 108 her waving is still vigorous.

Mrs. Aldrich, 108, Keeps Fair Date

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Auburn — A Nemaha County Fair parade without "Aunt Martha" Aldrich would be like a livestock show without cattle.

The 108-year-old Brock woman, undoubtedly Nebraska's eldest resident, made her usual appearance this week. And she rode twice, since the parade is traditionally a twin attraction of Monday and Tuesday evenings.

"You couldn't keep mother home if she were possibly able to make it," said her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Dougherty. "She loves waving to her old friends every year."

The fair itself closed down Wednesday after three days of good crowds and a livestock show that was a virtual barnbuster. County Agent Robert Wilson counted up more than 350 animals, including 150 beef cattle that comprised the largest exhibit.

An 18-year-old Humboldt youth, Gary Stutheit, showed the grand champion steer to take the traveling Robert Bath Memorial Trophy for the third time. His 990-pound Hereford, "Little Harold," will be his showpiece as he enters the State Fair for the fourth year.

The Johnson High School graduate earned two purples in Lincoln last fall, and his steer then went on to become grand champion at the Oregon State Fair. Gary and his father, Erwin Stutheit, raise purebred Herefords near the Nemaha County line north of Humboldt.

Reserve champion steer was a crossbred shown by Lorraine Gerdes of Auburn. An Angus owned by Rita Seid of Auburn was declared grand champion female, the Hereford of George Grafton of Peru taking reserve honors.

Traffic Death Rate Unchanged

Nebraska traffic deaths in relation to miles traveled remained unchanged during the first four months of this year compared with the same period last year, a state accident record bureau report shows.

The death rate per 100 million vehicle miles was calculated at 4.8 through April of this year. Traffic deaths during the period totaled 122, compared to 119 last year. Motor vehicle mileage was up 2.8 per cent this year.

Lawyer Asks Standardizing Of Shot Glass

New York (AP) — Herman B. Glaser wants to standardize the size of a shot of booze.

"So a customer knows how much whisky he's getting for his money," said Glaser, a lawyer and chairman of the New York Council of Civic Affairs.

"I'm not a bar man," Glaser confided Wednesday at a news conference. "I like my whisky at the end of the day, like anyone else."

Glaser contends that the nation's drinkers waste $1 million a year on shot glasses with false bottoms or thick sides or both. He wants the State Liquor Authority to do something about it.

Glaser doesn't like bars that advertise "two for the price of one."

Summary of Conditions

The latest surface map shows several lows in the Rockies slowly becoming organized and a main low in west central South Dakota by noon Thursday. There is presently a weak semi-stationary front along the Iowa-Missouri border through central Nebraska to northeasten Wyoming. By Thursday noon a cold front out of a South Dakota low will be located southward through western Nebraska near North Platte and into extreme southeastern Colorado. A warm front also out of a low will be near the South Dakota-Nebraska border, into central Iowa and eastward.

Skies will be considerably cloudy through Thursday night with showers or thunderstorms scattered over much of Nebraska and portions of western Iowa. Skies will be generally partly cloudy and temperatures will be mild Friday with only some chance of a few showers, mostly in western Iowa. Temperatures Thursday will be dominated by the cloud cover, with little change at night.

Temps In July Ranged From 35 To High Of 105

Temperatures in Nebraska during July ranged from a low of 35 degrees to a high of 105 degrees, the Lincoln Weather Bureau reported Wednesday in its monthly review of weather.

The low was recorded 10 miles northwest of Harrisburg, and the 105 degree high was attained at Culbertson.

Temperatures at 15 well distributed stations averaged 74.6%, or 2.3 per cent below normal.

July rainfall was spotty, with some areas remaining very dry while others got more moisture than desirable. Precipitation averaged below normal in the northeast, north central and southwest areas, above normal elsewhere.

Hollywood (UPI) — Stacy Maxwell, who made her movie debut as Bob Hope's daughter in "Eight on the Lam," next stars in "The Young Runaways."

Lonely Casey Flying In Zoo

Omaha (AP) — The lonely male gorilla, Casey, should arrive in Omaha Thursday aboard a chartered plane from St. Paul, Minn.

A St. Paul insurance company removed the last obstacle to mating Casey with two female gorillas at the Henry Doarly Zoo in Omaha when it agreed to provide nearly $500,000 of liability insurance on the animal.

Nebraska News

Accompanying the pampered gorilla on the flight will be Dr. Ulysses Seal and Dr. John Anderson. Dr. Seal is a biochemistry professor at the University of Minnesota and Dr. Anderson is director of ambulatory clinics at the university.

Casey will be given an anesthetic for the trip and strapped to a five-foot long litter of reinforced plywood. If needed, Drs. Anderson and Seal will administer additional drugs during the flight. Other precautions also will be taken.

Over $500 Is Missing In 6 Elevator Breakins

Grand Island (AP) — County sheriffs and the Nebraska State patrol were investigating a string of elevator breakins Wednesday in which more than $500 was taken.

Hall County Sheriff Bill Ummel said the breakins apparently were the work of the same person or persons and probably went from west to east along U.S. 30.

The first breakin was discovered about 11:30 p.m. at the Gangwish Elevator at Shelton where two files were broken into and $10 taken.

The other breakins included:

Wood River — Farmers Co-Op Elevator, safe pried open and $184 taken.

Chapman — Chapman Co-Op Elevator, small amount of cash taken from a pop machine and cash register.

Clarks — safe pried open and about $175 taken.

Silver Creek — Farmers Co-Op Grain Co., elevator office safe pried open and about $87 taken.

Peru State Post Goes To Wendel

Peru — George Wendell, Norfolk, has been named superintendent of buildings and grounds at Peru State College, effective September 1, according to Dr. Neal S. Gomon, president.

Wendel will succeed the late Delbert E. Gaines, who served in the post from June, 1964, until his death, July 26, at Afton, Wyo.

Peace, Freedom Party Convention Planned Aug. 24

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska Peace and Freedom Party will hold its founding convention Aug. 24 in Omaha's Fontenelle Park.

State co-ordinator Tom McCarthy said speakers will be announced soon.

To appear on the November ballot as a statewide party, the group must attract at least 750 qualified electors to the convention. A presidential candidate has not been chosen.

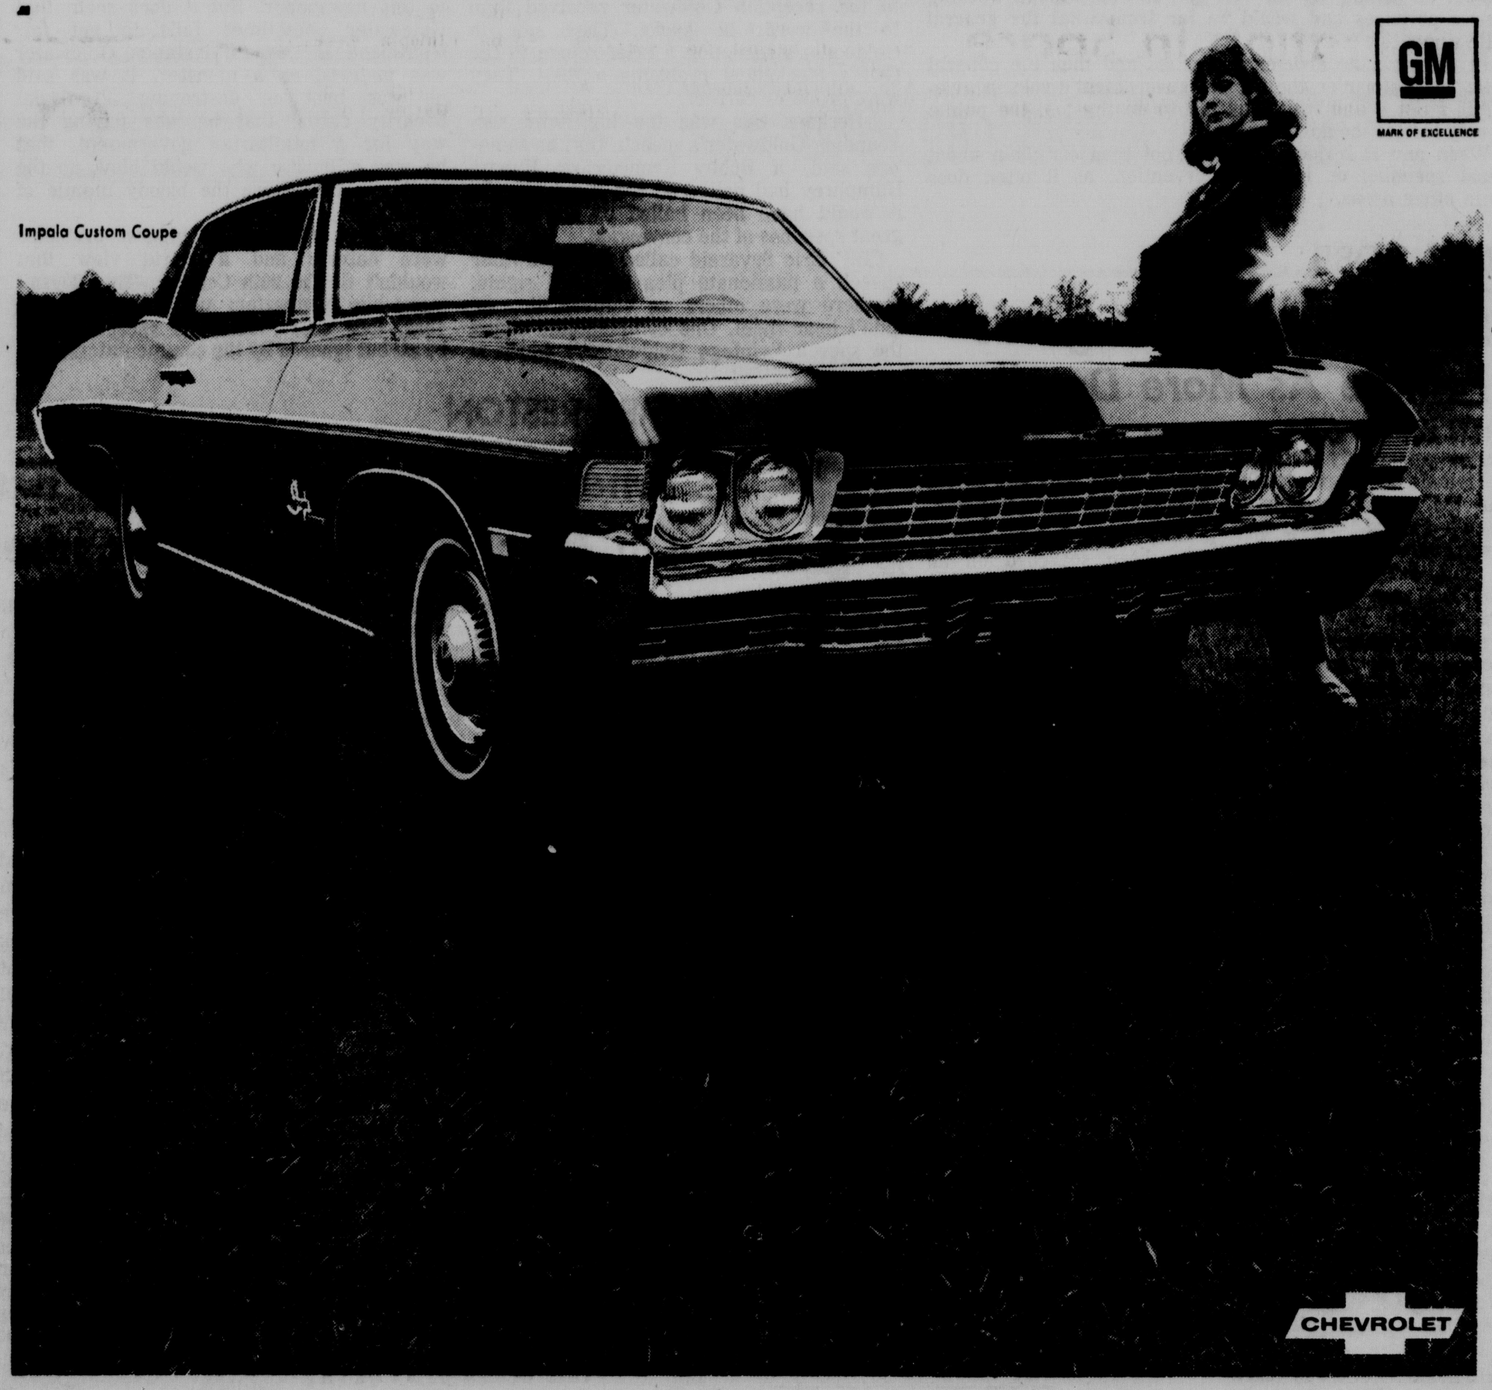
Right now it's easy to get a great deal on a car you don't want.

Instead, see your Chevrolet dealer. Better you should get a Chevelle or big Chevrolet. (Any Chevrolet, for that matter, now at year-end savings.) Plus special savings on popular V8's, automatics, power steering, and power disc brakes. You'll get a great deal—of automobile.

CHEVROLET



If the Impala were any other car in its field, it wouldn't have:

1. As much room inside.
2. As long a body outside.
3. As wide a front and rear tread.
4. Hide-A-Way windshield wipers.
5. An automatic warning buzzer that sounds off if you forget and leave your keys in the car.
6. Flush-and-dry rocker panels to fight rust.
7. As tight a turning diameter.
8. A Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish that keeps its shine.
9. Body by Fisher.
10. A speed warning indicator you can add.
11. A light monitoring system you can order.
12. As low a price for an automatic transmission.
13. As low a price for a V8 convertible or a 4-door hardtop or a V8 station wagon. (Like we say, putting you first keeps us first. See your Chevrolet dealer quick.)

You get the biggest year-end savings just where you'd expect to.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

In some quarters, it is a wonder the weather isn't blamed on the federal government. In an editorial this week, The Wall Street Journal takes the government to task because of the growing difficulty of air transportation.

Cities such as Chicago and New York have experienced a lot of difficulty lately, stacking up jets in the air like ten-pins. There are two things wrong with this. One, it is a dangerous situation with a good possibility of mid-air crashes. Second, it is costing the traveling public a lot of lost time.

Generally, The Wall Street Journal wants the government to get out of things. But in the air transportation field, it apparently wants the government to get in. And while advocating that, it gives the government a slap for interfering with railroad transportation to the point where it has virtually been destroyed, from a passenger point of view.

The demand for airline service is reported to be growing at the rate of 15 per cent a year. With conditions already crowded it is obvious that millions and billions of dollars are going to have to be poured into new facilities.

But if people want the federal government to get into the act, they should stop complaining about federal spending, which is a major complaint of The Wall Street Journal. Not even the federal government can solve the problem without spending money.

It is a little tough, too, to fault the airlines. What has happened is really not the fault of anyone, but simply a development that has occurred.

It is a mark, for one thing, of the affluency of our nation. Today, more and more people can afford to fly and do so. Flying has become as much of the family vacation pattern, almost, as has flying for business reasons.

In the area of business, still the lion's share of air travel, time and timing are important elements and both are greatly facilitated by the fast jets that now serve the nation. Flying is a service that fits comfortably with the rapid rate of change within our industrial complex and the opportunity one can find there.

Even so-called local firms now do business on a wide geographic front. High-powered sales and executive personnel consider it nothing to travel many thousands of miles in a week, carrying their product or their service to all parts of the nation and world.

Fewer and fewer in number are the people who have never flown. What's more, people like to fly at their convenience and this is a further part of the problem. They like to travel in the early and late parts of the day, avoiding the middle of the day and the nights.

This makes it difficult for competitive airlines to establish schedules that make efficient use of all 24 hours in the day. Rather, the airlines find themselves forced to meet the demands of a most particular riding public.

A large load falls, too, on the big cities where the airport demands are heavy. Additional facilities are already needed in many major population centers for the handling of the planes themselves and for passenger service.

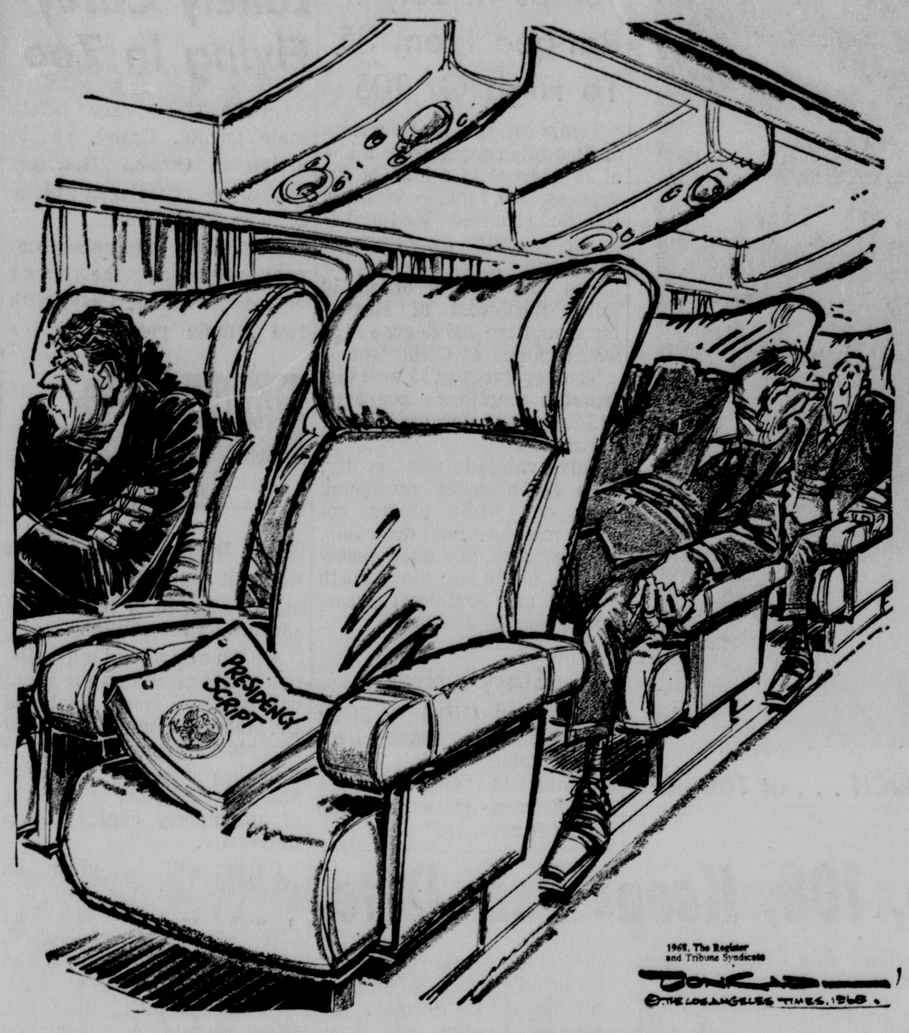
The Wall Street Journal suggests the government might like to try railroad passenger subsidies and it calls for an end to "planless proliferation of superhighways across the land."

The subsidy idea has some possibilities but to cut down on highway construction as an answer to airline problems is about as asinine as one can get. It would mean working at cross-purposes and would be far from what the general public wants.

In the end, the airlines and cities and then the general public will determine the federal government's role in aviation. If airlines and the cities fail to do the job, the public can only turn to the government.

When and if it does, it should not then complain about federal spending or federal intervention, as it often does now in other areas.

'He Didn't Get The Part!'



Nation's Problem People

The hope of the nation, as the politicians say, is found in its people, but so is its despair. If you have ever thought about it, the perfect society is a difficult one to imagine. The purely socialist dream of absolute quality has some merit but is full of pitfalls.

It sounds great to live under conditions in which all people would be equal in all respects. In this way, one would avoid the stress and strain of the competitive world. Rather than poverty at one end and extreme wealth at the other, you would have a middle ground in which everyone would be found.

The theory, however, is one thing and actual practice would be another. The trouble with the theory is that it fails to allow for the distinctive and human nature of mankind. Trying to achieve absolute equality among millions of people would be like trying to mix lions and tigers.

It may not be totally by nature, but human beings are diverse in their actions and aspirations. We talk about a sound economy, for instance, and everyone pays lip service to it but the individual always looks elsewhere when it comes to the disciplines on which such an economy can be based.

U.S. News & World Report takes notice in a recent issue of the rising cost of labor in the construction industry. In some areas, new contracts call for electricians to receive $8.50 an hour, bricklayers $8.25, carpenters $7.86 and laborers $5.65.

A Detroit builder is quoted as saying a home offered a year ago for $34,400 is now priced at $39,400. This epitomizes the problem of government in trying to establish a sound economic system in the face of natural ambitions by the individual to improve his own lot in life.

Goldwater Speech Ignored

In politics it is sometimes who says it, not what was said.

For example, the speech by Barry Goldwater at the Republican National Convention. Commentators paid more attention to the reception Goldwater received than to the words he spoke. They saw in Goldwater's reception a brief return to the GOP's ideological problems of 1964. They were probably correct.

Perhaps this was the big news surrounding Goldwater's speech. But, as someone said, if Bobby Kennedy or Hubert Humphrey had delivered the same speech, it would have been hailed as one of the great speeches of the convention.

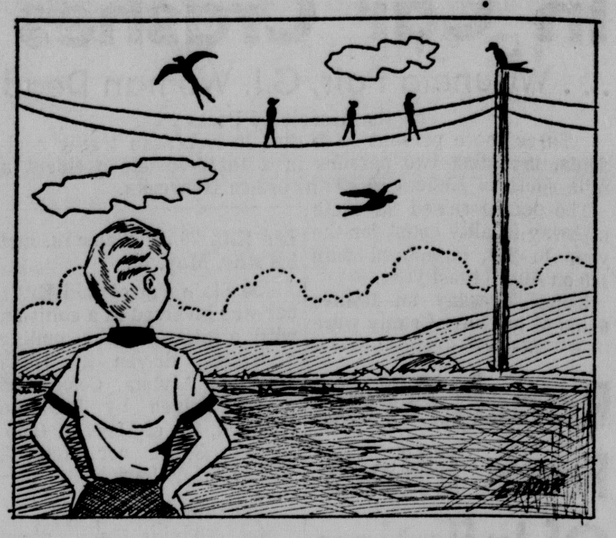
CBS' Eric Sevareid called the Goldwater speech a passionate plea for civil rights. If there were others as enthusiastic, we didn't hear them. One commentator called the speech "vintage Goldwater," which it certainly wasn't. This was Goldwater sounding off for civil rights in a way he never has before.

It is no secret that Barry Goldwater and most of his policies are unacceptable to this newspaper. But it does seem that Goldwater sometimes fails to get fair treatment. In 1964, for instance, Goldwater was pictured as a monster. It was said he was bent on destroying all Social Security cards, that he was paving the way for a totalitarian government, that he was a lunatic who would blow up the world, that he wore the bloody mantle of Hitler.

In fact, Goldwater's biggest problems were naivete and a world view that wouldn't fit the 20th Century. This doesn't make him a monster; and it doesn't mean that, four years later, his speech should be all but ignored by the commentators.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country



Early this morning before the heat of the day made me lose my ambition, I went to the garden and pulled beets. By mid-morning they were cooked and cooled so I slipped the skins from them. As I removed the skins and felt the smooth scarlet beets between my hands, I thought of rubies, great nuggets of glassy rubies that queens have adorned themselves with for centuries. After they had simmered in the sweet vinegar syrup with a blend of cloves and stick cinnamon to spice the pickles, I thought no queen could have been happier with her jewels that I with mine. They glowed with a deep red in the jars, lovely to look at and I am certain more enjoyable to the taste.

The sweet corn looks as if it will come to naught as the grasshoppers are eating the silks as fast as the small ears begin to push up from the stalk. I told The Farmer the way it looked now, he would have to cut it for fodder.

The swallows had a dress rehearsal tonight. Every brood that has hatched in our barn this summer must have taken part for there are big swallows, little swallows and middle-sized swallows sitting on our power line. They look very fancy in their shimmering suits of deep purple-black with burnt-orange vests. Every now and then one would flip from his perch in pursuit of some winged insect. After the chase was over, he would circle overhead and come down and take his place among the elite again.

Just why the clan gathered tonight, I don't know, for it is too early for them to make the flight southward. Perhaps they were just mapping their flight plans.

The peaches are hanging heavy on the trees, drooping the branches closer to the ground under the burden. The fruit is somewhat cut in yield but the peaches that are ripening are a delight to the eye. They are rosy and lush with a bright orange glow and a sweet smell that sets the mouth to watering just at the thought of a bowl of peaches and cream. Right at the moment I think we will eat the fruit in pies, cobblers, jams or raw. I would like to can some of them but the crop isn't that large although when we begin to pick them, a bushel basket soon fills.

Every night I walk around the trees, scanning the tops where the choice fruit hangs and wonder who will get the first chance at picking . . . the birds or we poor earth-bound humans. For some reason it always seems the birds get the first peck. The choicest fruit always hangs at the top of the trees.

My mother used to make peach pickles. How I did delight in eating those tasty tidbits that perked up a meal with the sweet yet tangy taste, dripping with heavy pickling syrup that left me licking my lips long after the meal had been completed. They were especially good with roast pork or baked ham. Perhaps the birds will leave a few peaches for me and I can make a kettle of pickles. A good pickle is hard to beat and two of them an impossibility.

Co-op History

Stromsburg, Neb.

It is a ridiculous situation when a farmer has to try to make his profit at the expense end of his business when he possesses the power to demand and get parity prices for his production.

If this situation continues much longer, it will eventually ruin not only the farmer but the small-town businessman and in the end it will collapse the economy of the whole country. There are several ways that we as farmers, farmer organizations, commercial clubs or chambers of commerce can exert some pressure and possibly get some temporary relief.

We can write our congressmen and our secretary of agriculture and let these people know that they are destroying our democratic system with these cheap support rates and a ridiculous import policy.

The grain speculators have been driving the futures market down for several months and dropped the market severely after Secretary of Agriculture Freeman announced the new low support rates on wheat and milo.

Some farmers are under the impression that the speculators help the farmers get fair prices. I wish someone would explain the benefits to me.

In a free enterprise system, we cannot legislate the speculator out of existence but we as farmers can limit his impact on our prices by establishing floor prices on the commodities which we have to sell.

The grain trade and the speculator operate on a bushel or hundred weight basis. The only reason they need a price of any kind is so they can set their margin per bushel, which Freeman does with the support rate.

A representative from one of our co-op grain handlers in Omaha informed me at the 1966 co-op grain annual meeting that they were hedging on the futures market and that they could see no other way for grain prices to go but down. How do you think they were trading?

This same man painted another gloomy picture at the 1967 co-op grain meeting. Now which way do you suppose they are betting on the futures? Another co-op member and I visited with this gentleman after the meeting and we asked him what he thought was the answer to the problem. He said that the farmers are going to have to farm more acres, take more land out of production and sell our grain at a cheaper price. In other words, he was talking about removing farmers from the land.

This man should check back on co-op history and he would find it wasn't the large land and cattle companies or large grain-producing farmers who started this co-ops and made them what they are today. It was the small and medium-sized operators who banded together so they could get fair prices for their grain and livestock on their selling end and eventually created a competitive force on the manufacturing end.

Impeachment

Beatrice, Neb.

I saw in The Star of July 31 the headline saying that official Lincoln was blamed by Morris for the failure of the anti-income tax drive.

It wasn't the income tax that failed. It was the state government that failed the people. People's rights are being taken away from them and I think it is high crime. The government is for the people and by the people. People have the privilege of petitioning our government, and I haven't found anywhere that there is a limit placed on it. Any state making laws of immediate advantage to a certain end, regardless of the people's petition, leads to anarchy and should come under impeachment.

There have been three presidents, three judges, one governor and one senator impeached. So the good citizens should continue to uphold the law.

Secret Service Regards Female As More Deadly

NEW YORK — Our Secret Service apparently believes the female is more deadly than the male. At Richard Nixon's first press conference after his nomination as the GOP presidential candidate, the handbag of each woman reporter was investigated before she was allowed to enter the audience chamber.

Two grave young men, in snowy shirts and Ivy League blue suits, guarded the portals. My probity — or so it seemed to me — was attested by the official badges on my dress and assorted credentials and tickets in my hands.

But as I started to walk through the door, one of the young men said, ever so politely, "Please, open your purse."

"Are you the Secret Service?" I asked ever so sweetly, as I fumbled with the catch. He nodded curtly. I opened the bag and thought it would serve him right if he had to examine its contents.

As the young man glimpsed the contents of that handbag, it seemed to me — although it could be imagination — that his eyes began to glaze.

He made no effort to reach into its depths, perhaps on the theory that some of the contents might bite. With a final gesture, he ordered me into the conference room. And the woman behind me snapped open her bag.

Times are indeed parlous, I thought, as I looked for a seat. Never before, either here or abroad, had police ever challenged reporters (with proper credentials) before entering a political briefing or any other kind of gathering.

It was not so much a sad comment on the press, I realized, as a tragic critique of our times. Would such searches, I wondered, for the first time be part and parcel of the presidential campaign.

Only once before had I ever been searched on an assignment, and then at the Dallas trial of Jack Ruby for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald.

I found a seat, next to Allan Cromley of the Daily Oklahoman of Oklahoma City. Had they searched his pockets? I asked. No one had challenged him, Al said, in surprise. It developed that no male reporter had been subjected to search. Only women reporters with those carry-all handbags necessitated by a convention.

"Never mind," Al said consolingly. "The Secret Service knew that after a week in Miami Beach, it was useless to search any man's pocket."

American Political Fortunes Rise Or Fall On Events, Moods, Compromises, Enemies

NEW YORK — Most political administrations are not overthrown by brilliant opposition leaders or policies but by their own inner contradictions, divisions and weaknesses, and this could very well be the case in the American election of 1968.

In the present mood of dissatisfaction with both leading candidates for the presidency, the question is not so much who will win the election as who will lose it. And the paradox of this is that Richard Nixon's main hope of victory lies with Lyndon Johnson, and Humphrey's hope of getting to the White House lies with his two favorite enemies, Richard Nixon and George Wallace.

Lyndon Johnson's contribution to the Nixon campaign is clear enough. He divided his party and the country with his Vietnam policy. He withdrew from the presidential race primarily because he knew he could not govern if the country remained divided over the war, but he is making it exceedingly difficult for Vice President Humphrey and his party to change that policy enough to restore unity.

Despite the Johnson compromises that led to the Paris peace talks, he has not gone far enough to get an accommodation either at home or in Paris. Nixon's greatest chance is the popular yearning in the nation for change, and the President is standing against the dramatic changes the Democrats need to wage their most effective campaign.

Accordingly, Hubert Humphrey is trapped for the time being. He is inching away from the President's Vietnam policy as far as he dare without provoking Johnson's open hostility, but he remains the symbol of Johnson's will and record and therefore an easy target for McCarthy and McGovern as well as Nixon.

In personal terms, Johnson's war policy is understandable. He won in 1964 by promising peace and withdrew in 1968 by waging an unpopular war. He believed he was right and the people who opposed him were wrong, and there were so many of the latter that he withdrew. But he did not draw all the consequences of his decision to retire, for a multitude of people opposed his policy in Vietnam as well as its author. Not having to face them at the polls, Johnson can now be indifferent to their views on the war, but Hubert Humphrey can't, and this is Nixon's opportunity.

Nixon, of course, would like to separate the war from the discontents and violence at home. He wants to talk about ending the disorder at home but not about the root causes of the disorder, one of which is clearly the war. The violence at home will not be stopped until there is a major redistribution of the nation's wealth from war and the preparations for war into the reconstruction of our cities and the social order at home: in short, until tens of billions are diverted from the federal budget annually to deal with the inequality of American life and the causes of poverty and ignorance.

Nixon tends to talk more about police than about poverty, and so does George Wallace, and this may, as they suppose, be the winning issue of the election, but the American people may take a more sophisticated view of this complicated modern society than Nixon and Wallace suppose. A cop on every corner could prove in the end to be no more satisfactory as a slogan than Hoover's chicken in every pot, but this probably depends on whether the Democrats can minimize the war issue.

There are two ways this might happen. The communists could agree to a cease-fire in Vietnam before the election, which would help the Democrats and hurt Nixon. Or Humphrey, if he is nominated, could side with McCarthy and McGovern on ending the bombing, and free himself to campaign with a more united party on a policy of ending the war abroad and refinancing the war on poverty at home.

President Johnson is in a better position than anybody else to end the bombing, get the Paris peace talks moving toward a compromise settlement, and give the new president, whoever he is, a fresh start toward a reconstruction of world and domestic affairs. He has gone just far enough in this direction to end talk of military escalation and a military victory, but not far enough to get the compromise he wants.

Naturally, he hopes for a cease-fire on his present terms, and no doubt he thinks this is the national interest, but even many of his own colleagues in the administration do not agree. What he is doing, consciously or unconsciously, is postponing responsibility for what will clearly be an unsatisfactory conclusion to an unpopular war, but he is leaving his party and the nation in confusion and disarray and historically this is usually what brings governments down.

Elders Are Opposed To Church Changes

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q "We've gone to our Methodist church half a century. But there's a younger generation in charge now that wants a new minister and wants to tear down our lovely old sanctuary and build a crazy-looking edifice across town. We're just sick about it. How can you adjust to changes in something as sacred as your church?"

A. — Church changes are often difficult for older people to accept. But when a substantial number of younger members favor change it's often for the good, for it clears away ideas which have outlived their usefulness and paves the way for fresh thinking and new interest. If the majority in your church favor these changes you'd better be flexible and go along with them. If you cannot accept the changes you can always move your allegiance to another church whose congregation more closely reflects your attitudes.

Q. — "My wife and I have lived in compact apartments all our life. Now that we're retired we're toying with the idea of buying a 20-room chalet that's up for sale for a song. We can afford it and think it would be fun, but of course our creaky friends say it will kill us trying to restore it. What say you?"

A. — Go ahead and buy it if it fascinates you. Retirement should be a time for doing things that beckon exciteingly. Real estate is almost always a sound investment, and if the deal offers a stimulating challenge and prospects for keeping happily occupied the purchase may prove a retirement bonanza.

Q. — "When my husband retired last spring, a neighbor gave him some Bermuda shorts as a gag. He started wearing them and likes them so much he's bought three more pair and wears shorts everywhere we go, including to church. I think it's shocking, but he says that if women can show their knees so can men and he won't go back to long pants until cold weather sets in."

A. — I'm on his side, and wish all men would wake up to the sensible practice of wearing shorts in warm weather. In Bermuda and other tropical climes it's entirely proper for men to wear shorts to business, church and social functions the year round. If more men had your husband's spunk, we'd be able to enliven our stodgy fashion code for men.

Proposal For Pre-Payment Of Pipe Line Rent Rejected

Falls City (AP) — A Richardson County proposal for the pre-payment of the pipe line rentals on the Rulo bridge over the Missouri River so as to speed up the discontinuation of toll charges has been turned down by the Missouri Highway Commission.

However, negotiations are continuing in an effort to obtain an early takeover by the states of Missouri and Nebraska. Richardson County has offered to turn the bridge over to the two states for operation and future maintenance once the toll revenues have ceased. However, the two states have stipulated that some work must be done on the span before they will assume responsibility.

The trustee for the bridge bondholders will have enough money on hand by Oct. 1 to pay off the remaining $135,000 of bridge bonds. But it has been estimated that the work on the bridge required by the two states would cost another $100,000.

A pipe line company which runs its line across on the bridge has a lease for use of the span over the next 10 years at $6,000 a year. The Nebraska Department of Roads, the pipe line company and Richardson County all agreed on a pre-payment of $40,000 by the pipe line company, which with additional money the trustee has, woud pay for the work required. This is the pre-payment to which the Missouri Highway Commission objected.

Omaha Demos Seek Partisan Mayor, Council

Omaha (AP) — Democrats in Omaha have launched a petition drive to change the city charter and make the mayor and city council elected on a partisan basis.

The chairman of the Douglas County Democratic Central Committee, Robert C. Vondrasek, said he hopes 12,000 signature will be obtained although only half that many are necessary.

Plans For Park Valley Apartments Revised; Approval Is Recommended

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday recommended approval of a community unit plan presented by Omaha developer Sterling Flott which calls for construction of 225 apartment units on the former Park Valley golf course at Cotner and Vine.

Flott earlier and unsuccessfully attempted to secure zoning from the city which would have permitted development of some 400 units on the 40-acre tract using the community unit plan formula.

Density requirements of the single family residence zoning category will permit the construction of 225 units.

Bankers Life Cited

Flott's Lincoln attorney, Lloyd Marti, noted pointedly before the commission that Monday the City Council approved B two family zoing for a Bankers Life Nebraska apartment development directly across the intersection southeast of Flott's property.

"What they were allowed is two and one-fifth times the density we propose for our area," Marti said. At one time, Flott had applied for B two faimly zoning but was turned down.

A spokesman for Flott said construction of the units would start as soon as the council approves the community unit plan.

Private Golf Course

Flott agreed with the commission on Planning Department stipulations added to the plan, among them, that a golf course planned for the property will be reserved only for the use of residents of the development.

Other Planning Commission recommendations:

—Change of zone from A-2 single family to H-S highway service at 1st and Superior, requested by Francis D. Dorenbach and others, deferred.
—Change of zone from A-2 single family to K light industry on the northwest corner of 42nd and Vine, requested by Willard J. Wassung, withdrawn.
—Change of zone from A-1 single family to M restricted industry on railroad right-of-way south of Nebraska Hwy. at 20th, requested by Peterson Constructon Co., approved.
—Change of zone from G local business and A-2 single family to H-2 highway commercial in the vicinity of 70th and Havelock Ave., requested by Herbert Heumann and others, denied.
—Special permit to construct an addition at Eldon Drive and A, requested by Clark Jeary Memorial Manor, approved.
—Special permit to operate a nursery school at 8320 Elizabeth Drive, requested by Jan Johnson, deferred.
—Special permit for an off-street parking lot on the south side of O, east side of 29th, requested by U-Save Car Center, approved.
—Special permit to construct and operate an off-street parking lot on the northeast corner of 45th and Vine, requested by Eugene Cotter, approved.
—Proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance relating to permitted uses on a transitional lot, approved.
—Vacating the north half of an alley located between 55th and 56th, Lillibridge and Roose, approved.
—Preliminary plats, Union Pacific industrial addition, Interstate 80 and the airport, approved; Saddle Hills addition, east of 56th on Old Cheney Road, approved, and Colonial Acres 3rd addititon, south of Old Cheney Road on 56th, deferred.

Woman Takes Murder Case To High Court

An Omaha woman convicted of second degree murder in the shooting death of her uncle appealed her conviction Wednesday to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

Gloria Eva Oliva was sentenced to 10 years in prison in September, 1967, for the fatal shooting of her uncle, Ralph Major, Jan. 11, 1967.

Her appeal said the Douglas County District Court made four errors in the trial. It asked the high court to either grant her a new trial or dismiss the case entirely.

The appeal said the court admitted into evidence a statement made by the Oliva woman to police while she was riding to the police station after the shooting. It said this statement and a statement made to police at the police station should not have been admitted into evidence.

It also said the court should not have allowed a photograph of the dead body to be introduced.

The fourth case in which the Oliva woman alleged a court error was when it would not allow into evidence a statement by a defense witness that the murder victim had a "community reputation for violence."

Biafrans March

Munich, Germany (AP) — Headed by a big black cross, the 100 or so Biafrans living in West Germany and sympathizers will make a 100-mile cross-country march starting Sunday to dramatize starvation conditions in their secessionist West African country under siege of Nigeria.

Newsprint Roll Kills Publisher

Bogota, Columbia (AP) — Jorge Gaitan Cortes, 44, chairman of the board of the newspaper El Tiempo and former mayor of Bogota, was crushed to death Wednesday when a roll of newsprint fell on him.

The accident occurred when Cortes slipped from a 28-foot high scaffold while inspecting the newspaper printing plant.

Millard Files Petition In Bid To Determine Bonds' Status

The City of Millard Wednesday filed in Lancaster District Court a petition for a declaratory judgment to clear up the status of a bond issue which has been stalled because of the controversy over Omaha's attempted annexation of Millard.

The petition asks that the court rule the bonds properly issued and rule in addition that the bonds will be a valid obligation of Millard if it is not annexed or an obligation of Millard be assumed by Omaha if Millard is annexed by its larger neighbor.

The petition names as defendants the Robert E. Schweser Co., with which Millard has a contract for purchase of the $327,000 in bonds, the City of Omaha, and State Auditor Ray C. Johnson.

Millard alleges that Johnson has refused to register the bonds because of litigation over whether the Millard annexation is legal.

This refusal has prevented a favorable opinion from bond attorneys which is required before sale of the bonds can be consumated, Millard claims.

Moscow, London Panda Courtship To Be Resumed

London (UPI) — The bittersweet courtship of the only two panda bears in the world outside Communist China will resume Aug. 30, it was announced.

Moscow's male panda An-An will fly to London Aug. 30 for a third date with London's reluctant female Chi-Chi. Zoologists are hoping that absence has made Chi-Chi's heart grow fonder — for An-An.

It will be the third attempt to mate the two panda bears and the second in London. The last try in Moscow in 1966 ended in frustration for zoologists, not to mention An-An, and virtually dashed hopes that the two pandas would consummate the wedding arranged for them by Moscow and London zoo keepers.

Boy Scouts Postponing Fund Drive

The Cornhusker Council of the Boy Scouts of America has postponed until February, 1970, the Capital Fund Campaign it had planned to expand and develop Cornhusker Scout Reservation.

"Due to the multiplicity of campaigning around Lincoln," William Darragh, vice president of Ketchem Inc., suggested that the fund-raising effort be deferred at least a year.

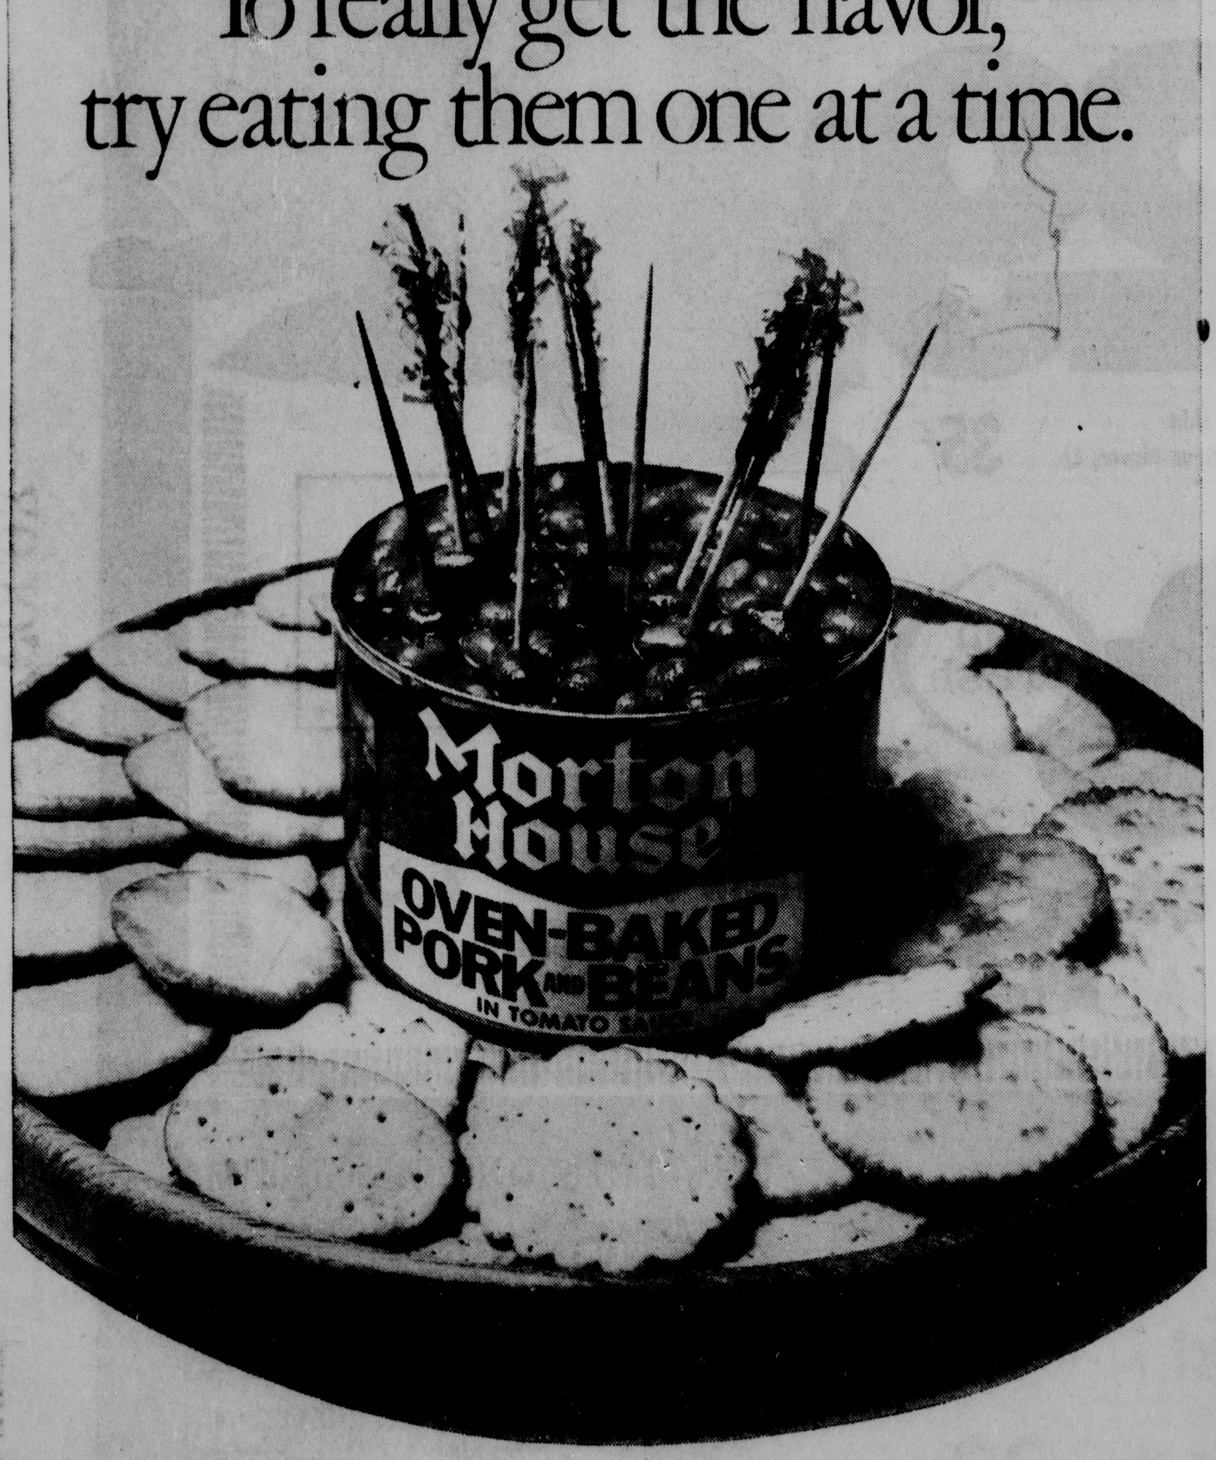
Ketchem Inc. had been under contract to the council to survey and report on the forthcoming campaign.

The executive board of the council took action to defer the campaign a year and instructed officers to negotiate a contract for the services of Ketchum Inc. for the campaign in 1970.

Italy Orders All Billboards Down

Rome (AP) — The Italian government Wednesday ordered the removal of all billboards along the nation's expanding network of superhighways.

The order noted that billboards would still be permitted along secondary roads only if they do not cause confusion with traffic signs and are in harmony with the countryside.



You probably think beans are beans. So you lump Morton House with the other brands.

Don't.

Other brands are boiled. Morton House is Oven Baked. You can taste the savory, baked-through flavor in every bean.

Other sauces are thin and runny. Morton House tomato sauce is thick and rich. And each can contains wood smoked, sugar-cured bacon, not just fat.

Try a few—and you'll soon grab for a fork.

Agnew Faces Loss Of Governorship

Annapolis, Md. (UPI) — A county court judge Wednesday ordered Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew to show cause in 30 days why his campaign for the vice presidency will not create a vacancy in the governorship.

The governor was to return to the state Wednesday night for the first time since he departed 10 days ago for the Republican National Convention which elevated him to second place on the Republican national ticket.

Agnew said in San Diego Sunday that he has no intention of resigning. He said he would delegate Secretary of State C. Stanley Blair to run the routine affairs of his office. Agnew said he would be in constant touch by telephone, and would try to be in the state one to three days of every campaign week.

Taxpayers Rebellion

Chief Judge Mathew S. Evans of Anne Arundel County Court signed the show-cause order in a suit brought by Taxpayers Rebellion, Inc., and its president, Robert Edwards of Baltimore.

The suit claims the governor's campaign demands will cause his absence from the state and that create a vacancy in the office.

Under the Maryland constitution, if the governor's office is vacated by "death, resignation or removal from the state," it must be filled by the president of the state senate until the state legislature can convene and elect a new governor.

Democrat In Line

The president of the state senate is William James, a Democrat. The legislature is overwhelmingly Democratic. The state constitution does not provide for a lieutenant governor.

The show-cause order was mailed to the sheriff of Baltimore city, to be served on the governor or his lawyers, the attorney general of Maryland, an elected official whose offices are in Baltimore.

Attorney General Francis Burch, a Democrat and leading candidate for the governorship in 1970, said his office would accept service for the governor.

"We'll probably file a demurrer, stating that even if all the facts as alleged by the plaintiffs are true, notwithstanding there is no vacancy in the governor's office," Burch said.

'Party Politics'

"I happen to be a Democrat and the governor happens to be a Republican," Burch said. "But I think this is party politics. I have no apprehension in stating that the court will rule the governor is not legally obligated to resign."

The suit seeks to have either the state treasurer or the state comptroller withhold the $25,000 salary of the governor "while he is pursuing his personal interests or until he resigns."

The suit also declares that the governor's aides should not be permitted to take time off from state duties to work on his "personal pursuits."

At least three statehouse aides are working full time in the vice presidential campaign. Republican Party funds are paying their salaries while they are away from Maryland.

Medal Of Honor Awarded Posthumously To Soldier

Washington (UPI) — Pfc Billy L. Lauffer, a young soldier who charged a Viet Cong machinegun nest to save his wounded comrades was awarded the medal of honor posthumously Wednesday.

The medal was to be presented to Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Lauffer of Tucson, Ariz., by Army Secretary Stanley Resor at the Pentagon Thursday.

The 20-year-old Lauffer was attached to a company of the 1st Air Cavalry Division in Binh Dinh province on Sept. 21, 1966, when the unit was "suddenly struck at close range by intense machinegun crossfire from two concealed bunkers," according to the Army's citation.

As the Communist fire increased, Lauffer "rose to his feet and charged the enemy machinegun position, firing his weapon and drawing the enemy's attention. Keeping the enemy confused and off balance, his one-man assault provided the crucial moments for the wounded point man to crawl to a covered position, the squad to move the exposed patients to safety, and his comrades to gain more advantageous positions," the citation said.

Music news is covered thoroughly in the "Sunday Journal and Star."

LIGHTNING WHITE LAUNDRY CHART

GENERAL: Chlorine bleach should never be used as an all-purpose laundry aid.

Lightning White should always be substituted for chlorine bleach when a general clothes whitener is needed because bleach damages many fabrics.

Chlorine bleach should never be used on wool, silk, spandex, unfast colors, natural sponge and many wash-'n-wear items. Bleach should never be used on any fabric for any reason without first consulting the manufacturer's label.

Chlorine bleach should never be used in combination with common household ammonia. The resultant is a highly hazardous gas.

It is the opinion of many laundry experts that the amount of chlorine bleach recommended by the manufacturers of bleach is at least twice what is considered safe for cotton, linen, and other natural fabrics. It is suggested that when following label directions this fact be remembered.

It should be understood that chlorine bleach, no matter what its drawbacks are, is an excellent disinfectant. It should never be used as a disinfectant for clothes, however, without considering the damage it might do. One safe substitute: hydrogen peroxide.

It is wise to choose a substitute for chlorine bleach when trying to remove stains from clothes. However, there are a few cases where there is none less harmful than bleach.

When trying to remove stains from clothes, it is most important to remember that carbon tetrachloride is never to be used Its fumes are harmful and sometimes fatal. This point is emphasized because a current stain-removal chart given wide circulation suggests the use of carbon tetrachloride. This suggestion is unthinkable.

STAIN-REMOVAL RECOMMENDATIONS:

Blood & meat juice. Soak in cold water. If stain remains, soak in 1 gal. lukewarm water, ¼ cup Lightning White & 3 tbls. household ammonia. Launder in lukewarm water & Lightning White & detergent. If necessary, use a diluted, safe household bleach.

Adhesive tape. Sponge with safe cleaning fluid or banana oil. Launder in Lightning White & detergent.

Alcoholic beverages. Sponge quickly with cold water, then with glycerine & water. Rinse in vinegar & water solution, then clear water. Launder in Lightning White & detergent.

Chewing gum. Rub with ice. Scrape off as much gum as possible. If stain persists, sponge with safe cleaning fluid. Launder in Lightning White & detergent.

Chocolate/cocoa. Apply paste of hot water & detergent. Rinse with hot water. Launder in LightningWhite & detergent. If stain persists, sponge with hydrogen peroxide.

Coffee/tea. Soak in cool water. Launder in Lightning White & detergent, with water as hot as fabric permits. If stain persists, bleach with hydrogen peroxide or other non-chlorine bleach.

Ice cream/cream/milk. Soak in cool water. Launder in Lightning White, detergent & hot (or warm) water.

Crayon. Sponge with safe cleaning fluid. Launder in hot (or warm) water, using Lightning White & detergent.

Deodorant/perspiration. Apply solution of Lightning White & detergent. Launder in regular fashion.

Dye & running. For cottons & linen, treat with commercial color remover—for example, Tintex. For colorfast fabrics, soak in solution of hydrogen peroxide (1 tbls. to 1 gal. water) & 2 tbls. detergent. Fresh stains often respond to an immediate rinse in cold water.

Fruit. Launder in regular fashion with Lightning White & detergent. Now treat remaining stain as follows: cover area with sodium perborate bleach & add drops of hot water to make a paste. Next add a few drops of household ammonia. Wait 15-30 minutes, then launder again as above.

Grass. Launder in hot water, Lightning White & detergent. If stain persists, use chlorine bleach according to directions. Now rewash. For colorfast fabrics, use hydrogen peroxide to bleach, then launder in warm water, Lightning White & detergent.

Lipstick/rouge. Sponge with safe cleaning fluid. Launder in Lightning White & detergent.

Mustard. Rub glycerine into stain. Launder in Lightning White & detergent. If stain persists, soak in solution of 1 tbls. sodium hydrosulfate to 1 pt. water. Sponge with alcohol. Re-launder.

Ink/ballpoint ink. No results are certain. Sponge with safe cleaning fluid, then brush on paste of detergent and household ammonia. On washable white fabrics, bleach if necessary with chlorine bleach according to directions on label. On washable colored fabrics, do as suggested above, only substituting perborate bleach for chlorine bleach. Launder in Lightning White & detergent.

Paint. Scrape off fresh paint. Sponge with safe cleaning fluid. Launder in Lightning White & detergent.

Rust. Apply salt and lemon juice. Place in sun (if possible) to dry. Now rinse. Finally launder in hot (or warm) water, Lightning White and detergent.

Soft drinks. Sponge with equal parts alcohol & glycerine or lukewarm water & alcohol. Launder in lukewarm water, Lightning White & detergent.

White socks. Soak in ½ cup Lightning White & ½ cup liquid detergent. Launder in regular fashion.

Yellow discoloration in synthetics. Soak for 1 hour in solution of ¼ cup Lightning White to 1 gal. water. Launder in solution of Lightning White only. Re-launder if necessary, adding cup of non-chlorine bleach. Always wash white garments in separate load. Note: yellowing may be the result of using chlorine bleach. Check the label on the garment for possible warning on this point.

Stained diapers. Soak diapers in pail holding solution of ½ cup Lightning White, ½ cup household ammonia & ¼ cup detergent. Spin water from diapers before washing in Lightning White & detergent.

Work clothes. Shake garments to remove loose soil. Turn down cuffs & turn out pockets. Soak in solution of ½ cup Lightning White & ½ cup liquid detergent. Launder in regular manner.

A message from new Lightning White®...the amazing laundry whitener and stain fighter.

Lightning White's not a bleach. It's better than bleach. It brightens colors as safely as it whitens whites. It does it by helping your detergent lift out dirt that causes staining, graying, and yellowing. With bleach, the dirt stays—only the color changes.

It's the best for permanent press.

Lightning White penetrates hard-to-clean permanent press fabrics, lets your detergent get rid of dirt and stains.

It gets permanent press cleaner than detergent alone, cleaner than detergent and harsh bleach.

For all fabrics—whites and colors.

Lightning White is even safe for use on washable synthetics that warn against the use of bleach.

No matter what the fabric, it beats anything else for clean—or double your money back.

Don't settle for ordinary white—get Lightning White.

City Groups Urge Increased Spending

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Public testimony before the City Council Wednesday night on the fiscal 1968-69 city budget found no fault with proposed expenditures as interest groups urged increased spending in specific areas.

Support was sought for the additional appropriation of $397,000 for library capital improvements — an amount deemed necessary by Library Board President Mrs. Eva Ann Winter for the system to carry on its level of services.

The figure includes $100,000 to acquire land for future branch sites and $297,000 for the construction of the southeast branch library.

'People Restless'

"The people out there have been patient, but they are becoming restless with us . . . they are without adequate service," she said.

The plea for additional library funds, as well as other requests, will be discussed Monday morning at a special meeting of the council. The budget will be adopted within the next 10 days.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf's proposed budget reaches $42.4 million, and would be the third highest in the city's history.

Mill Levy

As presented, the tax-supported portion would require a levy of 28.60 mills, the same as last year. If changes made by the council during past review sessions are incorporated, the levy would be 29.80 mills, subject to adjustment pending final balances and evaluations.

Among other requests for funds to be tacked onto the new budget, Joe R. Seacrest of the Chamber of Commerce streets and highways committee asked for a city pledge of $25,000 ($15,000 from the new budget) to help finance an estimated $96,000 study that would coordinate the location of railway trackage and streets and highways.

With the agreement of Public Works Director Robert Obering, Seacrest said the study would result in bountiful safety benefits and the savings of perhaps millions of dollars ultimately in the construction of the Northeast Radial and other roadways.

Other government and private agencies have already pledged their share of the total cost of the study, Seacrest said.

Raise Backed

Support was voiced by the Lincoln Central Labor Union for an across-the-board raise for all city employes now being contemplated by the council.

Wendell Olson, speaking for the union, also urged the council to focus its attention on recruitment and retention problems and he related the union's solid opposition to an alternative pay plan that would exclude over half the city employes from a pay step increase this next year.

The council was commended by Julian Hopkins, representing the Gateway Merchants Association, for its announced intention of appropriating money for the addition of 10 police officers.

Police Lauded

The step is necessary, he said but, he added, "under the leadership of Chief Joe Carroll and the senior officers, we have had better law enforcement and service than we have had a right to expect."

Others testifying at the public hearing, included Walter Vallis, who suggested that the city embark on a tax-supported sidewalk construction policy, including tax credits for property owners who construct their own sidewalks and Mrs. Eleanor Enersen, who asked the council to consider in the future the possibility of aiding a day care program for mentally retarded youngsters.

Condemned Downtown Hotel Scene Of 2nd Fire In Week

For the second time in less than a week, flames brought firemen to a condemned hotel in dowtown Lincoln Wednesday.

Firemen said that the fire destroyed a mattress inside the condemned B&R Hotel at 1328 O St.

The hotel is supposedly vacant and its entrances have been boarded up.

Firemen said that someone had apparently broken into the hotel through one of the rear windows, however.

Last Friday firemen extinguished a similar blaze in one of the rooms. In both cases, the mattresses were destroyed.

Cause of the blaze Wednesday afternoon was under investigation.

Firemen had speculated that Friday's fire might have been the result of a cigarette dropped onto the mattress.

Kennedy In-Law 'Loaned' Money To Federal Witness

© New York Times Service

Washington — A former Justice Department employe has testified that Stephen E. Smith, brother-in-law of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, provided $3,000 in cash that was "loaned" to a former government witness in the trial of James R. Hoffa's lawyer. He said the money was returned two days later.

Walter J. Sheridan, who was an aide to Kennedy when he was attorney general, testified that he had asked Smith for the $3,000. He said Smith had turned it over to him without asking any questions and without being told what would be done with it. Smith handles the Kennedy family finances.

Smith was out of his office Wednesday and could not be reached immediately for comment.

Sheridan also said Kennedy was not told of the transaction, which took place in mid-December of 1964.

The money was given to Robert Vick, a formerpoliceman in Nashville, Tenn. Six months earlier he had been a key government witness in the jury-tampering conviction of Z. T. Osborn Jr., a Nashville attorney for Hoffa, the president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Sheridan said Vick was destitute because he had lost his job after he had testified against the popular Nashville lawyer. He said he had lent Vick the $3,000 because he thought it would be bad for law enforcement if people who testified for the government were permitted to suffer for it.

On the morning after the money transfer, Sheridan said, he decided the transaction might be misconstrued and he took the money back.

Osborn is now serving a three-and-one-half-year prison sentence for attempting to bribe a prospective juror in November of 1963, when Hoffa was about to be tried for jury tampering in an earlier case.

The statements by Sheridan were made here Tuesday in a sworn deposition that is expected to be introduced in evidence next week in Nashville in a hearing on Osborn's motion for a new trial.

Policeman Shot By Dropped Gun

Des Moines (UPI) — A Des Moines policeman, James E. Rodine, 26, bought a Derringer about a week ago because it was "cute," an associate said.

Rodine accidentally dropped the gun Tuesday night. It discharged, killing him.

Marsh Told To Defend Keeping Tax Off Ballot

By JOAN McCULLOUGH
Star Staff Writer

Secretary of State Frank Marsh was directed to present a written statement by Monday showing cause why the income tax question should not be on the November general election ballot, or the issue will be placed on the ballot.

In an order handed down Wednesday by Lancaster District Judge William C. Hastings, the judge in effect sustained a motion for an alternative writ of mandamus filed by Loren Morris of North Platte protesting Marsh's decision that the anti-income tax petition was invalid.

Morris, one of the leaders of the recent drive, contended that Marsh did not accept certain valid signatures endorsing the anti-income tax petition.

Not In Favor

Judge Hastings noted that issuance of the order did not mean a decision in favor of Morris.

The order was issued after nearly three hours of consultation by Judge Hastings, Asst. Atty. Gen. Calvin Robinson and John A. Wagoner of Grand Island, attorney for Morris.

When Marsh's answer is filed, and if it shows sufficient cause, the case will be tried, Judge Hastings said.

Speed Promised

"Legal technicalities and complex procedures" had delayed the progress of the case and a related suit filed by Ted Baldwin, but the courts will handle the case "as quickly as possible," he said.

The Baldwin hearing, originally scheduled for Tuesday, was continued. The cases have not been consolidated, the judge said, but the Morris case covers the same points.

The cases protested Marsh's refusal of some of the signatures on the anti-income tax petition which were filed July 3.

Baldwin contended that Marsh rejected them because they were not filed before the final legal filing date, which the petitioners understood to be July 5.

Redone Home Of Kennard Open Monday

The restored 1869 home of Thomas P. Kennard, first Nebraska secretary of state, will open Monday as the Nebraska Statehood Memorial.

Located just southeast of the Capitol at 1627 H, the home is furnished in the 1870-80s period, largely with items significant in the state's history.

The memorial will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays. The exhibit will be closed on Mondays.

Hours for the Nebraska State Historical Society have been changed to 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1:30 to 5 p.m. on Sundays and holidays.

Indians Protest More Automation

New Delhi (AP) — Thirteen members of parliament handed Prime Minister Indira Gandhi a petition signed by independent and oppositionist MPs asking her to intervene personally against "the ill-conceived policy of introducting automation" in India.

The immediate aim is "to see to it that another computer is not installed in the government-run life insurance corporation office in Calcutta."

Indian Girl 'Good' After Her Surgery

... On Heart Valve

Omaha (AP) — A 10-year-old girl from Indoro, India was reported in "good condition" Wednesday following heart surgery she came half-way around the world to receive.

Arunda Shrivastava arrived June 25 at Schuyler, Neb., after her father, H. C. Shrivastava asked his employer if there was some way his daughter could be treated.

Arunda Shrivastava Undergoes Surgery

Conferences were held with University of Nebraska Medical College authorities and it was agreed that Arunda's problem could be corrected by surgery. The Schuyler Rotary Club raised the money for the girl's trip to the United States and townspeople "adpted" her.

Aug. 1, the child underwent a cardiac catherization, a diagonostic process which pinpointed the problem. Tuesday surgery was undertaken on a valve between her heart and lungs. Doctors had called the valve "tight" and said this caused the child's trouble.

Wanted U.S. Doctors

The child's father said "doctors in India have been trying to get me to let them do surgery on Arunda for several years, but they are only starting such surgery in my country. When I found out that I could come here, I wanted the operation to be done here where you have the best doctors and equipment."

Shrivastava is learning the poultry industry at Schuyler and is working for Kermit Wagner. In the process of getting the child to the United States, the help of Gov. Norbert Tiemann of Nebraska also was enlisted.

Papillion Voters Facing $950,000 School Proposal

Papillion (AP) — A $950,000 bond issue for school construction will be submitted to voters here next month, according to Supt. Paul Basler.

The date will be set by the board of education at its meeting Monday.

The proposed construction includes 11 classrooms and an auditorium at Papillion High School; seven class rooms at Parkview Heights Elementary school and a new grade school in the Carriage Hill area.

Federal funds and money unspent from a previous bond issue in 1967 will make up the difference in the $1,208,000 program.

No Riot Left In NU Rushing

To every adult of middle years (or should we say member of the "establishment") who shudders over the wild, riotous ways of the current college student and mutters disgustedly, "I just don't know what the younger generation is coming to," — relax.

Either you have a faulty memory or you didn't get around very much in your late teens — because college life, as it is lived nowadays, seems to many alumni to be pretty drab, regulated and downright dull.

Take, for instance, those four or five days which formerly were called "squeal week" on campuses throughout the nation. Someone has taken all the "squeal" out of Squeal Week — Rush Week as it is politely called now.

No longer do mobs of excited coeds rush madly to surround Ellen Smith Hall (even that landmark is no more) to scream partisan encouragement to bewildered rushees as they showed up to choose a sorority. All nicely governed by rules and regulations, the rushees (who seem to have the upper hand nowadays) instead sit quietly and sign "preference cards" with no pressure from anyone — not even from their families who are not allowed "to show" during rush week.

No longer are prospective rushees met at the Burlington Station by rival groups of pushing, shoving coeds whose aim was to force the half-scared freshman into THEIR buggy or Model T, as the case might be.

One prominent Lincoln woman recalls the longest streetcar ride of her life which lasted until she finally capitulated and "signed on the dotted line."

Not that that really meant anything, because an unwilling rushee could always change her mind and sign up with another group three days later! But not today. Once you sign up, that's it and no nonsense.

Rush week on the University of Nebraska campus has become surrounded by unbreakable rules — all to the good, most argue — but it has taken a little spice and competitive fun out of the whole rigamarole.

Sunday, Sept. 1, all rushees, even those who reside in Lincoln, will move into official university dorms and hang up their best bib and tucker. Sunday evening, they will begin a series of open houses in which each prospective sorority member will call at each of 17 chapter houses for a rigidly specified length of time.

Monday and Tuesday, the still calm and unruffled rushee will attend six parties at the six sorority houses of her choice, and Tuesday evening and Wednesday, she will embark on a second series consisting of four parties of HER choice — narrowing the field, so to speak.

And the sorority members had better be on their toes with clever party themes and entertainment, because refreshments are kept at a minimum (the rushees are fed wholesome meals at the dorms) and absolutely no favors or gifts are allowed.

How dull — no flowers, no perfume or odd bits of jewelry, AND no white convertible car placed at the disposal of a hard-to-get rushee.

Even the final "squeal" has been taken out of rush for the worried, nail-biting Greeks who must wait in their houses like ladies for their new crop of pledges to walk in the front doors. Maybe that is why the average coed enjoys picketing and sit-ins — a girl has to have some fun out of college life.

To top it off, Panhellenic (the official organization for Greek women) has announced that two members from each sorority will serve as guides and counselors at the dorms, answering questions and giving impartial assistance to the rushees — which is a far cry from the days when a rushee could be bodily abducted from one chapter house and dragged, willing or unwilling, to another.

Even fraternity men, we understand, have gone quite formal and will rush with rules and regulations from Aug. 30 to Sept. 3. The picnics and beer-busts — and slightly dizzy freshmen — have been replaced by business-like "smokers."

So have pity for today's crop of students and their picket lines for lost causes. After all, they are not allowed to have their class-cutting football rallies of the 1930s or traffic-disrupting "Shirttail Parades" of another era.

MISS JANET GIESELMAN

The engagment and approaching marriage of Miss Janet Gieselman of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gieselman of Bloomfield, to Dan Skoog, also of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Skoog of Holdrege, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Sept. 28, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the First Trinity Lutheran Church in Bloomfield.

Miss Gieselman attended Wayne State College, where she is a member of Kappa Delta Gamma sorority, and is a former student at the University of Nebraska. She now is on the staff in the office of the Nebraska State Railway Commission.

Mr. Skoog was graduated in July from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Prenuptial Showers

Miss Mary Jane Thomason, a bride-to-be of late summer who is planning an Aug. 17, marriage to Joseph J. Harrington, Jr., of Denver, has been honored at several bridal courtesies since her return from Denver, where she has been teaching in the public schools.

A miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Thomason last Friday evening when Mrs. Jerry Felber was a party hostess at her home, and the bride-elect was presented a linen shower at the courtesy for which Miss Della Caster was hostess at her home Wednesday evening, Aug. 7.

Before returning home to Lincoln, Miss Thomason was honored at a personal shower in Denver, given by Miss Auralea Sharrar and Miss Diann Van Camp.

Miss Sharrar will attend Miss Thomason as maid of honor for the 7 o'clock ceremony, which will be solemnized in the chapel of Westminster Presbyterian Church, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Diann Van Camp and Mrs. John Loftis, III, of Denver, and Miss Susan Ayres.

David Huskin of Denver, will serve Mr. Harrington as best man, and the groomsmen will be Steve Spangler, Bruce Callahan, John Loftis, III, and Ed Exum, all of Denver.

August Has Many Assets—One Is A Party

No one has much to say about August much anymore — All of the talk, small and otherwise, seems to involve September, football, school — and the deluge of autumn parties.

August, however, can't be ignored for a variety of reasons. It still has 16 days to go, of course, and even though some of the weather hasn't been to our liking, the month still comes up with more assets than liabilities.

One of those assets has been a secret that everyone in the know has been guarding for lo, these many weeks. It was a surprise birthday party for Dr. Ralph Ludwick, and it was a 6:30-to-8:30 o'clock affair on Wednesday evening at the University Club.

The hosts and hostesses were Dr. Ludwick's sons and daughters-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludwick, Jr., and Capt. William E. Ludwick, USN, and Mrs. Ludwick of Chevy Chase, Md.; his son-in-law, Dr. John Folsom of Muskegon, Mich.; his nephews and nieces-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Ludwick, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Ludwick of Sterling, Colo.

Capt. and Mrs. Ludwick and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Ludwick arrived late on Wednesday, as did Dr. Folsom and his son, John. Another Wednesday arrival was Mrs. Daniel Mich of New York City, Dr. Ludwick's niece.

* * *

Speaking of arrivals — there is one today, also. We hear that Miss Jill Cole will be coming from New York City for a few days visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cole.

Miss Cole will not be returning to New York when she leaves later this month, however. She is going to Yugoslavia — and we'll tell you more about that a bit later—

* * *

The California grapevine tells us that Miss Susie Salisbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Salisbury, is to be a freshman at Scripps College, Claremont, Calif., this year.

* * *

And speaking of the young set — Did you know that Miss Janet Silverman is attending the summer Pre-College Workshop at the University of Tampa. Tampa, Fla. We suspect that Miss Silverman soon will be wending her way to Lincoln since the Workshop ends on Friday.

Fun News In Suburbia

Have you suburbanites stopped your hectic pace long enough to catch your breath and realize it is only about two weeks until that famous first Monday of September — generally known as Labor Day? Many of you to whom we have talked recently hardly realize that that last day of swimming is sneaking up so quickly. Well, now is the time for all good families to come to the aid of everyone and plan a last fling before Indian Summer (and you-know-what comes next).

Some ambitious families have had time to plan ahead and are looking forward to some very special activities on the second of September. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon D. Walker of Country Club Terrace, for instance, are sending their daughter, Tish, who is an Alpha Delta Pi senior at the University of Nebraska, off to rush week, and their son, Mike, off to school at Southeast (by the way classes do start the day after Labor Day) and then they are taking off by themselves for a leisurely holiday cruise down the Missouri in their cabin cruiser. We will talk to the Walkers when they return and find out all about life on the river.

Another family in Country Club Terrace is making plans for the long Labor Day weekend. Mr. and Mrs. John Caspers are expecting to share their holiday with their children, who will be traveling to Lincoln from St. Louis, Mo.

But Labor Day does not always mean relaxation, sometimes it means just what it says — work. Combining both work and a little relaxation will be the Roger Bailey family of Clifford Place, who will be operating a refreshment stand at the State Fair that weekend — and during Fair week.

Well, that's enough of future plans for today. Let's turn to a little more recent happenings. Last weekend Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cox of Huntington Hills entertained their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cox Jr., who are visiting from Corona Del Mar, Calif., at a family picnic. The Sunday picnic which featured the old-fashioned trimmings of fried chicken, baked beans and potato salad, was held at the family farm just east of Lincoln. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Cather Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cather and their children, Scott, Linda and Carol; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cather Jr. and their children, Jay and Cathie; Miss Linda Walter, Jim Cox and Tom Petsch.

Marriage

The marriage of Mrs. Dorothy Unger to Jack J. Applebee was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 14, in the chapel of the Littleton Methodist Church in Denver.

Attending the couple for the 4 o'clock service were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taylor of Denver.

SHIRT TALES

The fashion accent this season is on the shirt — plain and tailored, or dressed up with lace, ruffles and wide sleeves.

These forever feminine — balloon sleeves, rolled collar and subtle Venise-type lace.

Classic and contemporary at the same time — the shirt and skirt combination, a traditional fashion basic, leads this falls list of good fashion looks. It's an especially winning team when the top, like this crisp white modified body shirt..

Then there is the smart, easy-to-look-at body shirt. This one is of white satin — It's something you are so happy to have when you combine it with a velvet midi skirt.

The Vest— It's Here

(c) New York Times Service

New York — It is an accessory with no logical reason for being, but it is fashion's newest trend. It has lots of eye appeal, which is fortunate, because, call it what one will — vest, waistcoat, jerkin, bolero, sleeveless jacket — it is almost everywhere, and where it isn't, it soon will be.

One of the earliest straws in this particular fashion breeze appeared in Rome last January. At that time, Valentino, the coturier favored by the best-dressed jet set, showed vests of white passementerie or re-embroidered cotton applique with white linen evening suits.

Earlier this season, Adolfo, the milliner-coturier, took up the vest theme and wove it throughout his collection. His designs were either bead-embroidered or bedecked with gold coins.

In the meantime, other designers and manufacturers, both on and off Seventh Avenue were tuned into the same intangible wave length.

Vests began appearing in every conceivable material, in every possible weight and with enough variety of treatment to stagger most imaginations.

Mallory, a Seventh Avenue Concern, imported some of the most exotic styles from Kashmir and Afghanistan. Hand-embroidered suedes were lined in goat or sheepskin; stiff velvets were lavishly trimmed with gold braid, bits of mirror and make-believe jewels.

They could hardly be called practical at any time of the year, but these happened to be shipped to the stores during the height of the summer. They sold well.

Party Honors Visitors From Colorado

The guest of honor at an open house which was held Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McCord, was their son-in-law, Larry Bradsby, of Denver, Colo. During the evening, friends and family members dropped in to congratulate Mr. Bradsby who has just received his M.A. degree in mathematics from Boston University in Boston, Mass.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bradsby (the former Shirley McCord) are graduates of the University of Nebraska. Following their visit in Lincoln, they will return to Denver where Mr. Bradsby teaches in the Jefferson County school system. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bradsby.

Attendants Named

Revealing plans this morning for her late summer wedding is Miss Nancy Holm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Holm, and Kappa Delta at the University of Nebraska, who will become the bride of Jack Nemec of DuBois, on Sunday, Aug. 25.

Mrs. Ted Hempel will attend her sister as matron of honor, and the bridesmatron will be Mrs. Ed Banning Jr., of Golden, Colo., also a sister of the bride-elect. The bridesmaid will be Miss Nancy Anderson of Johnstown.

Lighting the candles for the 2 o'clock service, which will be solemnized at the First United Methodist Church, will be Miss Holm's cousins, Miss Jan Holm and Miss Mary Holm.

Terry Tegtmeier of Bern, Kan., will serve his cousin as best man, and the groomsmen will be Dan Parks, Pawnee City, and Dwaine Glather, Dawson. The corps of ushers will include Ed Rathje of Phillips; Ron Reher, Wakefield; Bob Schnacht, Gretna; Ed Banning, Jr., Golden, Colo.; and Ted Hempel.

Of particular interest to their Lincoln friends is the announcement being made of the wedding plans of Miss Charlotte Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold W. Peterson of Omaha, and John Hall, son of Dr. and Mrs. William E. Hall of Lincoln.

The ceremony will be solemnized at high noon on Saturday, Aug. 17, at Dundee Presbyterian Church in Omaha.

A June graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi, Miss Peterson has named her sister, Miss Constance Peterson, as her honor attendant. Her fiance's sister, Miss Louise Hall, will be the bridesmaid, and the bridesmatron will be Mrs. Jacob Lee of Lincoln.

Dr. Vernon C. Hall will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests will be Dr. Ronald Schafer, Gillette, N.J.; Robert Brown, Brookfield, Mo.; George Heiden and William Origer, Lincoln.

A member of Beta Theta Pi at the University of Nebraska, Mr. Hall will enter the university's College of Medicine in Omaha this autumn.

Wedding

The wedding of Miss Wendy Wester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Everett Wester of Riverside, Calif., and Donald Leroy Taylor, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Taylor, took place Sunday afternoon, July 28, at Eden Lutheran Church in Riverside. The ceremony was solemnized at 2 o'clock by the Rev. C. Warren Meyers.

Long-skirted frocks of pink dotted Swiss were chosen for the honor attendant, Mrs. F. David Richardson, San Bernardino, Calif., and the bridesmaids, Miss Eileen Wester, sister of the bride, Miss Karen MacDonald and Mrs. Dennis M. Harriman, all of Riverside.

Max C. Mankin of Aurora, served Mr. Taylor as best man, and the groomsmen were Courtney Campbell, III, Lincoln; Gene Gunderson, San Diego, Calif.; Ens. Robert Kerrey, USN, Coronado, Calif.; and Roger Clark, Riverside.

The bride's directoire gown was fashioned of white peau de soie and imported Chantilly lace. Petal scallops of the lace edged the bell sleeves and throatline of the lace basque, and lace appliques bordered the slender skirt, which was completed by a chapel train.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will make their home in Lincoln, at 1748 F. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bridegroom is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, Kappa Psi pharmaceutical fraternity and the American Pharmaceutical Association. Mrs. Taylor has been careering in Lincoln.

Ceremony

At a late afternoon ceremony solemnized Sunday, July 28, Miss Carol Anderson of Lincoln, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Lester V. Anderson of Stromsburg, became the bride of Gary Sandsted, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Sandsted of Holdrege. White candles in pedestal holders lighted the chancel of the First Methodist Church at Stromsburg for the 4:30 o'clock service, which was read by the Rev. Raymond Sandsted of Madison, uncle of the bridegroom.

Miss Paula Hauschild of Arlington Heights, Ill., as the honor attendant, and the bridesmaids, Miss Jeanne Gillespie of Ashland, and Mrs. Monty Henkel, Lincoln, wore long-skirted frocks in aqua.

Serving as best man was Brent Sandsted of Holdrege, and seating the guests were Bill Zahl of Mills; Roger Henderson, Lincoln; Ed Schrock, Elm Creek; and Robert Henderson, Omaha.

Designed in the skimmer mode, the bride's gown was fashioned of white Alencon lace over satin. A petite bow marked the high waistline of the long-sleeved basque, and the slender skirt, edged with scallops of the lace, continued into a cotillion train. Her illusion veil was held by a cluster of lace petals.

A June graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University, the bride is a member of Phi Mu sorority. Also a graduate of Wesleyan University, Mr. Sandsted's fraternity is Phi Kappa Tau.

The Streamlined Living Room

The furniture in your home makes the difference between mere existence and gracious living. It should be your choice whether or not your living room, for instance, is formal or informal — but either way there should be the feeling of warmth and hospitality.

In the picture above, streamlined and elegant with an informal warmth is "Country Square", shown in a living room setting with a spring-fresh ambience.

The buffet is executed in pecan with genuine elm burl blocks surrounded by deep mouldings; the bookcase is simple and stylish.

Two cigarette tables boast simulated slate tops, and castered, cane-backed party chairs provide extra seating at a party table. Soft edge seating is provided in the green upholstered sofa and chair in complementary fabrics from American's upholstery collection. Accessories are simple and tasteful. An "Around Town" shag run in parrot green contrasts with the dark country tiled floor.

Elegance In The Dining Room

Formal elegance in dining returns with this "Royal Tribune" group of dining room pieces in a rich amber traditional finish with distressing. Genuine elm burl is combined with walnut veneers and pecan solids to produce an effect which is rich, warm and highly ornamental.

The china cabinet boasts three doors and one tray drawer .plus three glass shelves. The server adds storage space with shelf space behind doors plus drawer space and the buffet also provides ample room for storage.

Case pieces are enriched with decorative brass hardware and egg and dart moulding on doors and drawers.

The round pedestal table and cane back upholstered arm and side chairs add further notes of elegance. The warmth of the furniture is echoed in the pumpkin colored walls and rug — a bright contrast to the black and white tile floor.

The Mini Room For One-Room Dwellers

Like most bedrooms in today's homes, this room is mini in size.

But by creative arrangement, it can be converted into a miniroom with many uses.

And for those who go for Spanish furniture but balk at its size, the room brings still another idea home.

Alongside the queen-size bed is an octagonal drum table, which unlike the traditional night stand, offers abundant storage space in addition to the surface area.

More storage is provided by the slender, stylish pedestal desk, which takes up little room and provides a vital study area.

For relaxing, there's a tiny but extra comfortable chair which is accompanied by a unique ottoman with stacking cushions.

The ottoman, which has casters, is used mainly as a footrest but also doubles as the storage case for plump cushions which come in handy at snack or study time.

How to make a home within four walls is a problem facing thousands of career people and young marrieds who start homemaking in a high-rise apartment each year.

With careful planning, the one-room apartment can hold all of the furniture for everyday living and entertaining requirements — and still have a pleasant, inviting atmosphere. The secret of fitting 24 hours of living in a single room is to create a comfortable sitting room that can be easily and efficiently turned into night sleeping quarters.

Key features of the all purpose studio apartment are suggested in the room with several-lives, illustrated at right: 1) a cushiony look in moderately-scaled upholstered pieces; 2) skillful stacking units that perform active service in addition to storing books and belongings; 3) a sofa that opens up smoothly to form a full-size double bed.

Handsome sleep-or-lounges gracefully and successfully hide their double life and now may be treated with the decorating respect due any conventional sofa. The fabric may start a room's color scheme, and the sofa is made the focal point of furniture arrangement.

A cocktail table placed in front of the daytime sofa, may be swiveled alongside the sofa, to be used as a "nightstand" during bedroom hours.

Most of the room's storage and work space can be centered in a single area, with the help of stack units and shelves. For example, desk, bookcases, bar, hi-fi, record rack, film cabinet, all can be contained and concealed in a wall.

We Hear That

An alumna of the University of Nebraska, Mrs. Marilyn H. Ridenhour of St. Louis, Mo., recently was appointed convention program co-chairman for the American Society of Women Accountants eastern regional meeting, to be held in St. Louis next spring. The former Marilyn Housel of Madison, Mrs. Ridenhour also will serve on the society's national publicity committee.

A Way To Stretch The House

If there never seems to be enough room in the house, you might take a new, searching look beyond your bed. Some of the most exciting possibilities for space exploration today exist right in your own home — in the quiet, unused areas of the bedroom, according to decorating authorities.

In most households, that cozy tyrant, the bed, dominates space which is used only about one-third of the time. At that rate, there's room for at least 10 hours of extra living in the average American home, space that designers everywhere have set out to reclaim.

With carefully selected furnishings and a dash of imagination, they say, the bedroom can come out of the dark hours of sleep into daylight use, as well. Helping to make the bedroom an interesting place "to live," not just visit for eight hours a day are a great variety of woods and finishes, versatile designs and modern technical applications in new furnishings on the market.

As important as the furniture in your decorating approach, say designers. For whatever the extra dimension the bedroom assumes, it always remains a private room, your personal retreat from the world. And as a refuge, it should be furnished for your special tastes and needs.

The most essential other-than-sleeping role filled by the bedroom is a place for relaxing, with a book, a favorite hobby or records. But for round-the-clock use, every bedroom should have at least one area you will want and feel free to use, fully dressed, during part of the day. That special area may be designed for work or just sitting and enjoying a window view.

The bedroom was not always a "quiet zone," a forgotten room in the house. Kings held court in their bedchambers, and many famous writers and personalities conducted business and their daily activities from the bedside.

Only in recent times has the bedroom, shrinking to a size that made it difficult to fit in more than the basic bed, fallen into disuse.

Taking the measure of modern rooms, designers have these suggestions for conquering space: To start, divide a bedroom into "areas of action" — sleeping, resting, hobbies, work. When an area has been designated for a particular purpose, choose furishings of the right proportion and arrange them to suit the space as well as the activity.

Sometimes original selection of furniture can effectively solve space problems and induce two separate moods in a bedroom: Instead of a desk for a work area, for instance, add a harvest table or dining table to achieve a living atmosphere.

DATE PEAR PIE

Juicy pears combine with the natural sweetness of dates in a luscious pie filling that is really outstanding. Choose golden, fleshy, sun-ripened pears and imported diced dates for the utmost in rich good flavor.

To make a 9-inch pie, you'll need

CRUST:

½ cup butter
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ pound creamed small curd cottage cheese

FILLING:

6 large fresh pears
1 8-oz. package diced dates or whole pitted dates, cut up
1-3 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour.
2 tablespoons butter

To prepare the crust, sift flour and salt into a bowl. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add cottage cheese and mix with a fork until a dough forms. Divide in half, for top and bottom crusts. Roll bottom crust on a well-floured board, and place in a 9-inch pie pan.

To prepare the filling, peel, core and slice pears into a bowl. Add dates, sugar and flour, and mix until dates are dispersed and fruit is well coated with sugar and flour. Place mixture into bottom crust. Dot with butter. Roll remaining dough on floured board to make top crust, and place over filling. Seal edges. Prick top crust generously. Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Bake pie 10 minutes. Lower temperature to 350 degree and bake 30 minutes more, or until crust is golden brown.

NOTE: If raw crust breaks, press together with fingers. This will not affect the tenderness.

Fun Dip

Dip in! And enjoy the cool and spicy taste of this Deviled Dip.

You can zip this recipe together easily. Blend a can of zesty deviled ham, chopped fresh pineapple, and catsup. Then mound the Deviled Dip in pineapple shell and chill well.

For unexpected guests, dip into your pantry shelf and use the same simple recipe.

Recipes To Give A Culinary Lift

ENGLISH BISCUITS — Corn meal adds a bit of English muffin flavor to breakfast or dinner biscuits. Roll out, then cut biscuit dough with a three-inch diameter cutter. Place rounds on baking sheet lightly covered with corn meal. Then, sprinkle tops of biscuits with more corn meal. Bake as directed. Serve with orange marmalade.

FRENCH SOUFFLE APPETIZERS — Start with thin slices of French bread (cut into halves if loaf is more than three inches in diameter). Beat two egg whites until stiff. Fold in two tablespoons mayonnaise, two tablespoons chopped onion and four slices bacon, cooked and crumbled. Spoon mixture onto bread slices. Bake in preheated 400 degree oven 10 to 12 minutes or until puffed and golden.

EASY ITALIAN TORTE CAKE—You can work gourmet magic with a chiffon cake, bought or made from scratch, and a half-pint of whipping cream. First, whip cream, sweeten and divide into thirds. Fold one teaspoon of anise seed into one portion of the cream. Into a second portion, fold ½ cup light raisins. Slice cake into three layers. Spread anise mixture between bottom two layers; raisin-cream between remaining two. Top cake with remaining third of whipped cream and sprinkle with chopped nuts. Chill until serving.

B. Jay Becker

East dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ 2 ♥ J 8 7 4 2 ♦ 7 6 ♣ A 10 7 4 3
WEST ♠ K 7 4 ♥ Q 9 5 3 ♦ J 8 3 2 ♣ 5 2		EAST ♠ Q 8 3 ♥ A K 10 6 ♦ A Q 10 9 5 ♣ 9
	SOUTH ♠ A J 10 9 6 5 ♥ — ♦ K 4 ♣ K Q J 8 6

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	1 ♠	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♦	4 ♣	Pass	5 ♣
Pass	Pass	Dble

Opening lead — two of diamonds.

This deal occurred in a team match. At the first table South became declarer on the bidding shown.

West led a diamond to East's ace and that was the last trick for the defense. Declarer made the rest by ruffing two spades in dummy to establish his long suit. He scored 650 points for making the doubled contract with an overtrick.

At the second table the bidding went:

East	South	West	North
1 ♦	1 ♠	2 ♦	2 ♥
4 ♦	4 ♠	5 ♦	Pass
Pass	Dble

Clubs were never bid at this table. South led the king of clubs and North overtook it with the ace to return his singleton spade.

South won with the ace and returned the jack of spades which North ruffed. North led back a low club, knowing from the open'[illegible]d that his partner had the queen, but declarer ruffed, cashed the ace of diamonds, and later lost a trump trick to go down two — 500 points.

So the outcome was that the North-South pair at this table suffered a team loss of 150 points. However, they missed a golden opportunity to exact an 1,100 point penalty on the deal.

The fault was largely North's. When he ruffed the jack of spades, he should have returned a heart. South would trump, lead another spade for North to ruff, and another heart lead would then produce the sixth trick for the defense.

The hand demonstrates the great value of the suit-preference co[illegible]ntion. When South, with a wide choice of spades to lead from at trick three, returned the jack, his highest spade, he clearly indicated he wanted the higher-ranking suit returned (as between hearts and clubs) after North ruffed.

Had South wanted a club return, he would have led back his lowest spade to direct a low suit return. North's disregard of this basic convention cost him 600 points.

ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I wish I were a Catholic. Then I could go to a priest and confess the terrible thing I did, and he would give me his blessings and I could sleep again.

I got mad at my girl friend and started a terrible rumor about her (I said she got pregnant and had an abortion). I had no idea it would spread the way it did until my own mother heard it and told me I couldn't go around with her anymore.

Now the girl refuses to go back to school in September because everybody in town is talking about her. And some girls won't even speak to her.

If I confessed to my mother, she'd tell me to keep my mouth shut because she wouldn't want anyone to know what a stinker I am. I want to make it up to this girl because she really isn't a bad girl. Could I run an ad in the newspaper and say I lied?

CAN'T SLEEP

DEAR CAN'T: Forget the ad, but do go to the girl and confess that you started the ugly rumor. And tell her you will also tell those who have unjustly ostracized her. You will never be able to undo the damage you've done, but I hope this will be a lesson to you.

DEAR ABBY: Why don't you throw your hat in the ring for President? I'll bet you'd get more votes than Wallace. I've been reading your column since way back and you make a lot of sense to me.

I notice you get lots of letters from widows and divorcees who can't corral the man they want. An old government trapper told me in Montana 40 years ago that if you use the right bait you can catch anything you're after.

WYOMING JACK

DEAR JACK: KNOWING what bait to use is no trick. It's being able to COME UP with the bait you need when you need it that counts.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with you 99 per cent of the time, but I couldn't go along with the advice you gave that father who told his 17-year-old son to either get a haircut or not to come home. (The boy didn't come home.) You told the father to forget the hair for now and to emphasize the more permanent aspects of his son's character. Tell me, Abby, how can a father mold his son's character if he can't make him mind?

As a law enforcement officer I have found that the biggest cause of juvenile delinquency is the inability of parents to get their children to mind.

I have a 19-year-old son who would wear his hair too long if he had his own way. I don't tell him to either get a haircut or not to come home, but I do tell him if he doesn't cut his hair, I will cut it for him if I have to do it while he's asleep.

Abby, if I didn't love my son I wouldn't care how long he grew his hair. I know all boys like to rebel a little, but when you put your foot down I think the average boy respects you for it. I know mine does.

A FATHER

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Why Grow Old?

Josephine Lowman

Q. Will shaping the eyebrows make them become thinner over the years. A friend tells me it will.

A. There is no reason why shaping the brows should make them become thinner. There is a tendency for the brows to thin some as a woman grows older, although this is not always true.

Q. I have fair, pale, skin and dark blonde hair, which I intend to lighten. My eyebrows are thick and a dark walnut brown. How can I lighten them. Could I buy dye for my hair, the color I want it to be, and use some on my eyebrows. If not, why not?

A. Absolutely not! The brows can be dyed but this should be done by an expert. The reason is that you might endanger your eyes. Do not fool around with this, please!

I do not know why you want your brows to be the same color as your hair. The contrast of darker brows is most becoming. It seems to me that you have a nice combination now, with fair skin, blonde hair and darker brows. However, if you are going to lighten your hair and want to change the color of your brows, get professional help. If your brows are too heavy you can calm them with a little shaping.

Three Generations In Artistry Of Wood

Joseph R. Mock, Joseph H. Mock and Joseph W. Mock represent three generations of wood craftsmen.

Joseph H. Mock has used his talent as a hobby to create beautiful and useful objects out of wood such as handmade nut bowls, lamp bases and musical jewelry boxes.

The jewelry boxes are completely handmade by inlaying alternating strips of the heartwood of red aromatic cedar and walnut. Mr. Mock, who cuts down the trees himself near the Platte River, spends three years drying out the wood.

Then he works an average of 40 hours in his workshop at his 851 No. 42nd St. home to create an individual box, which is like no other he has made.

The eldest of the Mocks, Joseph W., lives in Lincoln also and is a retired carpenter who specialized in finish work.

"My father, Joseph W., is a master craftsman, but I first became interested in working with wood when I was in high schol. My best projects for woodworking class were combinations of two or more woods, like the jewelry cases," Mock explained.

We promised you three generations of wood craftsmen and three you shall have. Joseph R. Mock, son of Joseph H., just recently won second place in the Lincoln American Legion Soapbox Derby with a car he built from wood and fiber glass.

Courtesies For Brides-Elect

The honored guest at a series of bridal courtesies in recent weeks has been Miss Patricia Hauschildt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Hauschildt, whose marriage to Leslie L. Tyrell will be solemnized Friday, Aug. 23.

A miscellaneous shower was presented to the bride-to-be at a recent courtesy for which Mrs. Lloyd Feerhusen and Mrs. Virgil Heitbrink were hostesses, and honoring Miss Hauschildt at a linen shower were Mrs. Marvin Renick and Miss Cathy Budler, who entertained at the home of Mrs. Renick.

Feminine members of the family were invited to the shower given for Miss Hauschildt by Mrs. Fred Shaw, Mrs. Art Tyrrell and Mrs. Don Tyrrell at the home of Mrs. Leslie Tyrrell. Also entertaining recently for the bride-elect were Mrs. Anna Hauschildt and Miss Grace Hauschild.

For the 8 o'clock wedding, which will take place at St. Mark's United Methodist Church, Miss Hauschildt has chosen her sister, Miss Kandis Hauschildt, as her maid of honor. The bridesmaid will be Miss Becki Heilman, and Miss Cindy Hauschildt will attend her sister as junior bridesmaid.

Miss Kathy Renick will be the flower girl, and ringbearer will be Mike Renick.

Serving as best man will be Larry Hubka, and the groomsmen will be Bud Frazier and Greg Kemist. Dave Feerhusen and John Eriksen will seat the guests.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Tyrell, Mr. Tyrell is a student at the University of Nebraska.

August bride-to-be, Miss Carla Jean Stemper, was honored last Sunday at a prenuptial courtesy for which Mrs. Robert Shinn and Mrs. Keith Stemper were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Shinn.

The bride-elect, whose marriage to Roy Thomas Helton of Murfreesboro, Tenn., will take place Monday evening, Aug. 19, also was honored last Friday, Aug. 9, at a bridal courtesy given by Miss Kathleen Van Landingham and Miss Karen Taladay. During the party, a personal shower was presented to the honoree.

A miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Stemper recently at a party for which Mrs. Joe Meisner and Mrs. Paul Nickols were hostesses.

For her wedding, which will take place at an evening ceremony, to be solemnized at St. Mary's Church, Miss Stemper has chosen Miss Beverly Stemper as her maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Kathleen Van Landingham, Miss Karen Taladay and Miss Darlene Hoffart.

Miss Jennifer Stemper will be the flower girl, and the ringbearer will be Steve De Voogd.

Serving Mr. Helton as best man will be 2nd Lt. William Dyer of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and the ushers will be Danny Dent of St. Charles, Mo., Kelley Stemper and Donald Cox.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Stemer. Her fiance, who is a student at Middle Tennessee State University, is the son of M. Sgt. and Mrs. C. E. Helton of Anchorage, Alaska.

Campus friends of Miss Nancy Morrison of Loomis, and James A. Morse of Beaver City, whose wedding will be an event of Saturday, Aug. 24, will be interested in the plans for the ceremony, which will be solemnized at the First United Methodist Church in Holdrege.

The Nebraska Wesleyan University coed, who is a member of Delta Zeta sorority, has named Miss Mary Lou Morse of Beaver City, as her maid of honor, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Carol Greathouse and Miss Linda Lanham, both of Holdrege, and Miss Carol Williams of Denver.

Jack Morse of Beaver City, will serve as best man for Mr. Morse, who is a student at the University of Nebraska. The groomsmen will be Dan Brown of Benkelman, Steve Fisher and Doug Babcock, Beaver City.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

"Editor of the Times. Sir:" About here I broke the pencil point. "Would you care for a drink, sir?" asked the steward.

"Give me a Foster's lager," I said.

"How do you spell outrageous? I just figured that London hotel short-changed me $9 on the dollar-pounds exchange.

"Bloody pommies," said the steward — I was on the Qantas flight to New York. Australians love England, but they can't stand the English.

"I couldn't spell it myself," he said. "Why don't you just call him a - -." He gave me the right word, but I don't think they'd print it.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Qantas jet leaves London at civilized noon. It was a clear England day, a brisk wind blowing white clouds across a blue sky.

I was hot as a sheriff's pistol.

You arrive in London these days to be overcharged by the airport taxi driver. You leave short-changed by your hotel. All perfectly legal, dear boy. But it would shock Britons who believe such shoddy practices happen only in Middle Eastern bazaars.

"The pommies'll be full of starch with you," said the Australian across the aisle, "but London hotels are not above taking a few bob off the top of the dollar. All very proper of course."

The steward, "Proper is all the word in England. Discipline and all that. How about a whisky to cool off?"

☆ ☆ ☆

The steward went up to get a drink and one of the captains came back and sat down.

He said London airport was a madhouse and New York was worse.

"There's 250 planes flying the Atlantic each day. My ruddy oath, it's like crossing the bridge at Sydney at the end of the day."

He agreed with the steward that the English were prim and proper.

"I was flying copilot coming into London when the first JAL flight was in. Japanese Air Lines had just started the London service.

"It's a bit tricky in the pattern getting out of London, and the Japanese pilot was having trouble.

"Well, control got him on radar and began giving him courses to follow. We were all of us stacked up waiting to land. And the poor Japanese bloke was completely lost.

"After a bit of listening in on the chatter, our captain opened up his mike and said for everybody to hear: 'Makes you wonder how they ever found Pearl Harbor, doesn't it?'

The captain said: "We were all still laughing when we landed. But there was a terrible flap. Breaking radio discipline I think they called it. The pommies are a queer mob."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Australian round-the-world line flies stewards. Each plane carries one stewardess. "To mind the babies or in case a female passenger gets locked in the toilets" the steward explained.

☆ ☆ ☆

It was a brilliant blue day over the Atlantic, the finest flying weather in the world.

The competition (250 planes a day) is fierce. Every airline puts its finest meals on the Atlantic run. Passengers come off stuffed like Strasbourg geese.

The steward said: "There isn't much more the airlines can do what with caviar and rare steaks and every kind of cheese.

"But on Qantas you know you'll be served by a steward and not by some giddy sheila who pours a drink like she was using perfume.

"And then we have Australian beer," he said. "It's beer for a man," he said. "I can't bear that pommie beer."

Parties Asked To Tell Stand On Agriculture

McCook (AP) — The South Platte United Chambers of Commerce voted to ask the three parties to state their position on agricultural problems.

Copies of the resolutions also were ordered sent to the national committees of each of the three parties.

The speaker at the regular meeting, Richard Good, manager of the Grand Island Chamber, acknowledged that it is tough for small communities to be competitive with larger communities which have a full-time chamber executive.

He suggested that communities should consider an executive to help coordinate volunteer help. And, he said, communities should give more thought to working more closely with extension services.

When they talk about a community, he said, they shouldn't just talk of the area within the city limits, but the entire area of interest.

He said the economy of the community in this area is agriculture, industry, tourism and natural resources. Other things, which he called the building blocks of the community, include such things as schools, streets and community attitudes.

He said industry makes decision on where to locate based on these building blocks.

Good challenged the some 125 persons present to take a look at the big picture—total community development rather than be so concerned with what he called brushfires.

Death Told Of Artist G. T. Reynard

Grand Island (AP) — Word has been received here of the death of Grant T. Reynard, 80, a native of Grand Island who became a nationally known artist and illustrator.

Reynard's final show was staged at Grand Island's Stuhr Pioneer Museum in 1967. He died Tuesday in Leonia, N.J.

Reynard was an illustrator for the Saturday Evening Post, Harpers Bazaar, Colliers and Cosmopolitan magazines before leaving the commercial art field.

Subsequently his work was hung in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, The Fogg Museum, the Addison Gallery of American Art, New York, and in the Library of Congress. He was a lecturer on art at various colleges and universities and held an honorary degree of doctor of humane letters from Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio. In 1963 he was elected an academician of the National Academy of Design.

Reynard is survived by his widow and two daughters.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Thursday in the First Baptist Church of Hackensack, N.J.

Call Letters Told Of ETV Station At Merriman

The new Channel 12 educational television station at Merriman has been assigned the call letters KRNE-TV by the Federal Communications Commission, William R. Ramsay, director of engineering for the Nebraska educational television network, reported Wednesday.

The station, presently under construction, is the ninth station of the Nebraska ETV network and is expected to begin broadcasting Nov. 1.

A request to increase the station's power from the 42.7 kilowatts presently authorized to 169 kilowatts has been filed with the FCC. The power increase would increase the station's coverage area by 69%, Ramsay said.

Mayor Lindsay To Address GOP Fund-Raising Dinner

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Mayor John Lindsay of New York City will address a Republican fund-raising dinner in Lincoln Sept. 6.

The $50-a-plate affair will be held at the Cornhusker Hotel the night before the GOP's state convention in Lincoln, State Chairman Lorraine Orr of North Platte announced Wednesday.

The convention will be held at Pershing Auditorium.

Republicans hope for a crowd of about 500 at the Lindsay dinner.

Congressional Campaign

Funds from the banquet will be used to help finance the campaigns of Nebraska's three Republican congressional nominees and to help operate GOP state headquarters, Mrs. Orr said.

Lindsay, 46, has been mayor of New York since Jan. 1, 1966. Prior to that, he served as a member of the House for seven years.

An attorney, he served in the U.S. Justice Department from 1955-56 as executive assistant to Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, a former Nebraskan.

Coalition Founder

Lindsay is also a founder of the Urban Coalition, a group of 1,000 leaders in business, labor, education, religion and communication which organized to direct more private efforts into the task of rebuilding American cities.

His election as New York's 103rd mayor in 1965 came in spite of a 4-to-1 voter registration bulge in the city for Democrats.

Lindsay was one of the party luminaries who seconded the vice presidential nomination of Gov. Spiro Agnew of Maryland at the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach last week.

Humphrey Plan Emphasizes Local Initiative

Washington (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey issued Wednesday an "action plan" to improve life in the United States, with emphasis on local initiative and less federal control.

Humphrey urged "a far greater measure of state and local initiative, responsibility and cooperation, together with less direct federal control than exists today.

"This pronouncement has become almost ritualistic for politicians in 1968," he added.

He called for social progress "within the traditions of American free enterprise" with private business, labor, banks, industry, and universities sharing the burden.

From these principles, Humphrey developed his five-point "action plan:"

—Federal stimulation of discussion aimed at defining the nation's fundamental domestic goals.

—Federal incentives to stimulate regional planning based on such goals, including, perhaps, federal tax-sharing with planning regions; federal subsidization of land acquisition; aid to states; and development of new cities as population-magnets in rural and fringe-metropolitan areas.

—Creation of a Domestic Policy Council in the White House "to oversee the reorganizaton and restructuring of the Federal bureaucracy."

—A "Marshall Plan for the cities based upon self-help, local initiative, coordinated planning and private capital," and backed up by a National Urban Development Bank launched by appropriations and funded by public bond issues.

—The dedication of one or more new "pilot cities" on July 4, 1976 — the nation's 200th birthday — "demonstrating what is best, as well as what is possible."

Allied Troops Find Large Enemy Caches In Tunnels

Saigon (AP) — American and South Vietnamese troops reported finding large new enemy caches Wednesday in a tunnel complex beneath a cluster of villages 25 miles north of Saigon.

The allied sweep began Tuesday and so far has uncovered 500 rounds of rockets and recoilless rifle ammunition and 72,000 rounds for automatic weapons. The search operation is designed to upset any enemy plans for a new attack on Saigon.

Ten Viet Cong who attempted to flee were killed in a 15-minute clash Tuesday and Vietnamese "tunnel rats" captured another 17 prisoners in the underground labyrinth around Cut Dat, officials said.

Military officials believe 25,000 civilians living in the area are sympathetic to the Viet Cong. It is on a prime infiltration route and less than 10 miles north of a big U.S. Army helicopter base and the headquarters of the South Vietnamese 5th Infantry Division.

Last Friday in the same area allied forces raided the village of Chanh Luu, killed 18 Viet Cong, captured 114 prisoners and seized more than three tons of food.

U.S. B52s flew four bombing raids late Wednesday and early Thursday, one of them only 14 miles west of Saigon. Others were in Tay Ninh Province near the Cambodian border and near uang Ngai City on the north central coast where ground observers counted 18 secondary explosions, indicating hits on fuel or ammunition.

Airlines Face Limits, Federal Official Warns

© New York Times Service

Washington — Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd said Wednesday that the federal government would impose limitatons on air traffic at New York airports, to ease traffic congestion, unless the aviation industry imposed limitations on itself.

"It would be great if the aviation community could work this out by itself, but I don't think that's possible," the 46-year-old cabinet officer said in an interview.

The secretary noted that the department of transportation had the authority to limit the number of planes that landed at airports, and observed:

"The probability is that we will limit the number of both commercial and general aviation. We can establish priorities, which we're in the process of doing."

Boyd said that unless the aviation industry acted, the limitatons would be imposed this fall. On Tuesday, airline and government officials began a study of various proposals to ease air traffic at Kennedy airport.

The secretary also said that some international flights would be diverted from Kennedy to airports in Boston, Philadelphia and Washington.

There was no reason why passengers from other sections of the country, such as the West and the Midwest, could not connect with overseas flights at Boston, Philadelphia or Washington, he said. The secretary could not estimate the percentage of flights that would be diverted.

2 Demos Seek Floor 'Show' Ban

Washington (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. George S. McGovern called Wednesday for a ban on noisy floor demonstrations at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago Aug. 26-30.

Both candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination sent their suggestions separately to John M. Bailey, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Humphrey said he wanted to make it clear that this was not "my" convention and he could speak only for himself.

Three Killed, One Escapes Mine Ceiling Collapse In W. Virginia

Lundale, W. Va. (AP) — Three miners were killed Wednesday when a 40-foot section of a slate ceiling collapsed in a coal mine shaft near here.

Another miner escaped when fellow workers pulled him from beneath falling debris.

Resucers had been digging through the fallen slate since 11:35 a.m. when the roof of Amherst Coal Co. No. 1 mine fell in with little warning.

Mine officials identified the three dead miners as Enoc Roy Rudor, 40, of Amherstdale, Emmett Copley, 45, of Latrobe, and Charlie Lowe, 49, of Henlawson.

The mine is located ten miles east of Logan in southern West Virginia.

The escaped miner, Ernest E. Roark, 34, was working in the Tony Fork shaft when it collapsed. He said there was no warning.

"It just set down all at once," he told the Associated Press in a telephone interview.

"Emmett and Enoc were running a mining machine and Charlie and I were pinning tops," Roark said. "We looked up and saw the fall drifting and we began to run back down the shaft.

ed up and saw the fall drifting and we began to run back down the shaft.

"Charlie was right behind me but I guess he didn't make it out in time."

Rorak said the slate fall occurred about one mile to a mile and a half from the mine's main entrance. He said, however, there were smaller exits along the way.

Spud Crop Value Hits $2.9 Million; Tops '66 By 16%

Potatoes represented a $2.9 million crop in Nebraska last year, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported.

The value was about 16% above the $2,497,000 value of the 1966 crop.

The increase resulted in part from a 9% increase in production, and in part from a 6% increase in the average price per hundredweight.

In 1967, Nebraskans harvested 10,400 potato acres producing 2,223,000 hundredweight or an average of 214 hundredweight per acre. This compares to 2,032,000 hundredweight or 185 per acre harvested from 11,000 acres in 1966.

The 1967 average price of $1.31 per hundredweight was up eight cents from the previous year.

Belmont Library Will Be Closed For Two Weeks

Lincoln Library Board members Wednesday noted that the Belmont branch library will be closed starting Monday until Sept. 3 to coincide with the two-week closing of that area's community center.

The board also informally authorized the continuance of the 10 a.m. opening hour for branch libraries.

It was announced that new officers will be chosen at the September meeting.

No other business was transacted by the board because of a lack of a quorum.

Omaha Judge Entitled To Retirement Benefits

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Omaha Municipal Judge O. M. Olsen is entitled to retirement benefits from the judges retirement system although municipal judges in Omaha are not yet covered by the system, the State Justice Department said Wednesday.

The opinion, written by Asst. Atty. Gen. Ralph Gillan, said Olsen is entitled to benefits he accrued under the judges retirement system while he was a judge of the Workmen's Compensation Court.

Gillan said Olsen's benefits as a retired compensation court judge should not stop until the Omaha Municipal Court judges are covered by the system.

All Old Terms

The opinion, requested by the acting State Retirement Systems director, Clarence Kaspari, said Omaha and Lincoln municipal judges are not yet covered by the system because no judge in either court has begun a full term since the Legislature extended the system in 1965.

Nebraska law says no change can be made in the salary of a state official in the middle of a term. Judges may have a change in salary if one of them begins a full term while others are in the middle of a term.

Since bringing the judges under the system would require a payroll deduction, and thus a change in their salaries, they are not covered, the opinion said.

Olsen is presently drawing benefits as a retired compensation court judge and his present position as a Omaha municipal judge has no effect on his benefits until such time as the Omaha Municipal Court is brought under the system, the opinion said.

Recomputed

At that time, Olsen's benefits would cease, but would be recomputed after his retirement from the municipal court to include service on both courts.

Gillan said the appointment of Judge Charles Noren as the third judge of the Lincoln Municipal Court last October did not constitute a full term, and thus the Lincoln municipal judges are not yet covered by the system.

Both the Omaha and Lincoln municipal courts can be brought into the retirement system by the November elections of Lincoln Municipal Judge Thomas J. McManus and Omaha Municipal Judge Paul J. Hickman.

He said payroll contributions to the system by the Omaha or Lincoln municipal judges should be refunded.

The Story Of THE KENNEDYS

A BEST SELLER!

This epic account of the Kennedy family and its progress from famine-stricken Ireland to fame, power—and disaster—in America was a runaway best seller before it got into print!

Produced by a team of the best writers in The Associated Press, world's largest news gathering organization, for member newspapers, it was ordered by a quarter of a million newspaper readers even while it was being prepared and written.

'Triumph and Tragedy—the Story of the Kennedys' is a large, handsome volume with a 95,000 word text, some 130 photographs in black and white and two dozen in color—many of them never published before. It takes its place as a classic along side of 'The Torch Is Passed,' the AP account of the assassination of President Kennedy.

Rep. Mills Predicts Surtax To Continue

Little Rock, Ark. (UPI) — U.S. Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said Wednesday the new president in January undoubtedly will have to call for continuation of part, and possibly all, of the 10% income tax surcharge through fiscal 1970.

And for Congress to look favorably on renewing the increased tax, Mills said, new federal spending cuts will be required. Such cuts could hamper new programs a president might want to advance or make it necessary to further reduce existing programs.

Before the new president gets to the 1970 budget he probably will file supplementary plans to the fiscal 1969 budget President Johnson will prepare before leaving office. This budget will include spending cuts which Mills said Johnson had publicly announced he intended to make and which were required by Congress before it would ordinarily approve the surcharge.

Won't Increase Debt

"I'm not going to recommend an increase in the debt ceiling in the fiscal year 1969 except if some abnormal circumstances arise, like if we need a whole lot more in Vietnam or some place else," Mills said.

"I'm not going to do it because they've failed to reduce expenditures. There is not any way they can get around it."

Mills realizes that a new president is going to have new programs. They always do, Mills said.

Mills will have been in the House 30 years in Januray and has no opposition in his re-election bid. Unless tradition is broken (and) Mills would not care if it was) the program the new president can get through Congress will be "added on top of exisiting commitments."

Need Consolidation

More thought needs to be given "to consolidation or elimination or regrouping (of programs) that would enable us to absorb the new without total increase in the obligation of government," Mills said.

Even if the required cuts were made, Mills does not think the country could finance the Vietnam war without the surtax. He outlined his thinking as follows:

"If the war in Vietnam is to continue, I would anticipate that the budget submitted by the next president would approximate the amount involved in the budget for '69. If that's the case, then the question has to arise whether or not there will be sufficient revenues without continuing the 10% surcharge to hold our deficit within reasonable levels or will it be necessary to ask the congress for continuation of the 10% surcharge.

"All this has to be done by whomever we elect as the new president. In all likelihood, with the war continuing, there'll be some part at least or all of the 10% surcharge — in my opinion — requested for the fiscal year 1970."

Tax Without War

If the war would end, Mills is inclined to think the surtax would still confront a new president.

"You just don't get back to anything like normal conditions from such abnormal circumstances as we would have had without the tax bill. You just don't get within a 12-months period to those more reasonable levels. It takes longer to do it. Just not a short period of time," he said.

"So in all possibility if the (1970) budget has to approximate on the spending side of the 1969 levels — which I envision it will, there'll be some part of this tax increase requested for the fiscal year '70 — if not all of it."

Mills feels, all circumstances being equal, that Congress would be more amenable to a continuation of the tax than it was in passing the surcharge in the first place.

Halsey To Host 80 Biologists At Wildlife Meet

Eighty biologists have already registered for the annual meeting of the Central Mountain and Plains Section of the Wildlife Society at the Nebraska National Forest 4-H Camp at Halsey, Aug. 25-27.

Staff members from the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and Home Economics have been instrumental in helping arrange for facilities and entertainment. It is hoped that those attending the meeting can visit a nearby Nebraska ranch.

The section includes Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota but biologists from North Dakota, Kansas and the Canadian provinces of Manitoba nd Saskatchewan have been invited to affiliate with the section.

The formal program begins at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 26 and ends at noon Aug. 27.

New $63,000 4-H Barn To Hold Cattle Exhibits

. . . 500 Stalls Due By Fair Time

Nebraska 4-H'ers will have a new, all steel, $63,000 barn in which to exhibit their cattle at the State Fair this year.

The new barn is 410 feet by 80 feet and will have 500 stalls in place by fair time, according to Henry Brandt, manager of the Nebraska State Fair.

Dave Williams, superintendent of 4-H livestock, said, "We are very fortunate and real happy to have the new barn because it will alleviate a lot of the overcrowded and uncomfortable conditions of the past years."

With the completion of the new barn, all cattle exhibits will be moved from the brick 4-H building, and there will still be an additional 75 stalls, he added.

In the new barn, located just east of the old barn, there will be much better air circulation than in the brick 4-H building, and there will be adquate wiring in all stalls, he said.

"A new and bigger wash rack has also been built between the two barns," he said. And the old barn has been rewired, Williams added. The changes and additional facilities should be a big help in the care and exhibiting of the cattle he concluded.

Moving Ag Exhibits

Other changes accompanying the removal of the cattle exhibits from the 4-H building will be the moving of all agricultural exhibits from the second floor to the ground level where the cattle were formerly exhibited, according to Wes Antes, state 4-H leader. This will not only give additional space for the home economics exhibits on the second floor, but it will also give the ag exhibits sufficient space which they have lacked in the past, he said. Since not all 4-H display cases and demonstration booths will be built by fair time, some commercial exhibits will be shown on the north side of the ground floor, he added.

Antes also said there will be better areas available for county 4-H booths, and that congestion around the lunch and sale arena areas should be eliminated.

1,202 Animals Displayed At Dairy Shows

This year 1,202 dairy animals were shown at the nine Nebraska District Dairy Shows, according to C. W. Nibler, Extension dairy committeeman, University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

This represents a slight increase over last year, he reported, and it is the third highest number shown in the 22 consecutive years the shows have been conducted. He also reported that 698 purebred dairy animals were shown, more than in any previous year. Grade animals shown numbered 504.

The judges of the shows awarded 71 purple ribbons, 677 blue, 445 red and nine white. Junior exhibitors showed 96 dairy herds which won six purple, 38 blue, 18, red, and 14 white ribbons.

8 District Queens

Dairy queens elected at the District Dairy Shows were as follows: South Sioux City — Mary Ann Eyres, Plymouth, Iowa; Fremont — Marlene Timmerman, Papillion; Beaver City — Nita Lush, Beaver City; North Platte — Mary Alice Coyle, McCook; Beatrice—Lynette TenHulzen, Bennet; Norfolk — Julie Fry, Ewing; Seward — Nancy Ossenkop, Lincoln; Grand Island — Jo Ann Fishler, Central City; and no queen elected at Hemingford.

Winners of the fitting and showing contests at the nine shows were as follows: Mark Bousquet, Dakota City; Laurie Jean Kavan, Morse Bluffs; Delen Hays, Edison; Jane Chrisp, Anselmo; Robert Glaesemann, Fairbury; Beverly Bentjen, Loretto; Jim Imig, Seward; Ken Strain, Genoa; and Patty Martens, Chadron.

Grand Island Discrimination Charge Dismissed By Board

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Equal Employment Opportunity Commission Wednesday dismissed a complaint of employment discrimination brought against a Grand Island employer.

The International Chemical Workers Union Local 492 has charged that Silas Mason-Mason and Hangar Co. Inc., operators of the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Deport, had discriminated against female production workers by ordering only male workers to report for plant clean-up operations following a flood.

In following the examiner's recommendation on a June 27 public hearing, the commission ruled no unlawful discrimination occurred.

1st Public Hearing

It was the first public hearing on employment discrimination charges held by the state commission.

Emmett J. Dennis Jr., the commission's executive director, said no commission decision has been reached in an Omaha case which also reached public hearing.

He said a second Omaha discrmination complaint will be formally announced next week for public hearing Aug. 23.

Twenty-seven cases of alleged employment discrimination are still under investigation by the commission staff, he reported.

The commission closed the investigative files on 14 cases Wednesday by ordering two into concillation, dismissing four for lack of jurisdiction and finidng no evidence of discrimination in eight.

31 Cases Racial

Dennis listed the alleged discrimination categories in the 41 cases as race, 31; national origin, 1; sex, 7; wages, 3, and uncertain, 1.

In other action, the commission agreed to develop its proposed 1969-71 budget by programs and appointed Commissioner Gar Donnelson of Lincoln to head the budget subcommittee. The commission's current two-year budget is $102,000.

The commission also authorized Dennis to attend the Sept. 13-14 planning session for the International Association of Human Rights Agencies' 1969 conference.

Dennis has been named to the association's program committee by Charles H. King Jr., newly-elected association chairman and executive director of the Gary, Ind., human relations commission.

Elderly People Said Just Moving Through Another Of Life's Stages

By JIM STEVENSON
Star Staff Writer

Elderly persons are simply human beings moving through a difficult stage of life, a workshop on the social and psychological aspects of aging was told Wednesday.

University of Nebraska professor Naomi Brill told the some 40 persons at the conference that aging proceeds from birth — with its last phases no more unnatural than its first.

"How do you see them (the elderly)?" she asked.

'Waiting To Die'

"As people waiting to die? Or as people moving through one of the stages of life?"

The workshop, attended by social workers, nursing home administrators and other people working with the elderly, aimed to expand and update the delegates' knowledge of the aging process.

The two-day workshop ended Wednesday noon.

Mrs. Brill, a professor in the NU Graduate School of Social Work, told the group that each person encounters certain "tasks" within his lifetime.

Necessary

"These must be performed in order to move on to another stage of life," she said.

She described growth as adjustment to the changes, physical and emotional, that take place in the individual as he ages.

The individual must realize that both capacity and satisfaction will be on different levels as he ages, she said.

Called 'Crisis'

She called the period in which adjustment to physical and emotional changes take place periods of "crisis."

"During crisis, the individual's internal balance is upset," she said.

But the state of crisis is time-limited.

"After a period, balance will be restored," she said.

Destructive Too

But, although the individual will be more amenable to change during crisis, the resulting change can be destructive as well as constructive, she said.

"And during this period of crisis the old scars of the past may hurt again," she noted.

People are born with the capacity for growth, she said, pointing out that it is "the conditions of life that may thwart that capacity.

"But the aged have this need to grow just as we all do," she said.

"Our job is to help them live."

Youth Found Safe After 2 Weeks In Mountains

Minturn, Colo. (AP) — Bill Berlinger Jr., 16, safe and resting after wandering lost for nearly two weeks in the Colorado Rockies, said Wednesday, "I always had my doubts, but I had faith that I'd be saved."

Doctors said the youth was in "surprisingly good shape" after such an ordeal. Few persons have been lost for that length of time and survived in the rugged mountain country.

The aerial and ground search began after young Berlinger vanished July 31 while carrying sack lunches from one group of hikers to another on the Mount of the Holy Cross about 100 miles west of Denver.

Met Searchers

It ended Tuesday afternoon when Berlinger met a group of searchers not far from where he vanished.

"I was climbing up the mountain, about 50 or 100 yards from where I wanted to go, when I heard avoices shouting loudly," he told The Assocaited Press.

"I yelled 'Help' a few times and ran up toward them, and we met," he said.

"They couldn't believe I was the guy who was lost.

"I told them who I was and they gave me some candy and took me to a cabin," he said.

He said his only accident during his sojourn on the mountain occurred when "I fell off a 15-foot cliff once. But I landed on my pack and only scratched my hands and head."

Doctors said he suffered from exposure and dehydration, as well as cuts and bruises, but was in good condition.

Lost 30 Pounds

Berlinger said he lost 30 pounds, down to 115, but already was regaining strength. "I couldn't do any strenuous exercise," he said, "but I don't feel sick."

After what he described as a "good night's sleep," he was reunited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Berlinger Sr., of suburban Philadelphia, Pa., Wednesday morning.

The youth said he and his family planned to fly back east, probably to Boston, on Thursday.

LOST YOUTH . . . greets his mother.

Young Berlinger was saved from possible starvation by the foid he was carrying. He said he had eight oranges, a "whole box of Hershey bars, about two pounds of cheese and two pounds of brown bread."

He said two ponchos protected him from rain that fell on the mountain (elevation 14,005 feet) almost every day.

"It was very cold at night," he said.

Thought He Was Close

Berlinger said there were times when he thought he was very close "to where I was supposed to be going, but actually I was on the other side of the mountain."

He said he had walktd about five minutes July 31 before he suspected he may have been lost, and within two hours he knew it. "I should have turned back," he said.

Rangers said part of the problem in tracking him was his neatness. Berlinger said about the only litter he left was orange peels, or scraps the animals could eat.

"I didn't want to litter the place," he said.

Guardian For 10 Children To Be Named

Madera, Calif. (AP) — The 10 Morris children of Madera, orphaned last month by the death of their parents in an automobile accident, have been declared wards of the court.

The children, whose plea to be allowed to stay together resulted in more than a hundred offers of adoption, repeated their wish Tuesday in a closed hearing in Madera County Superior Court.

Following the hearing, Judge Jack Hammerberg said he will name a permanent guardian Friday.

Applications for guardianship have been filed by the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bolis Lachawicz, who have been caring for the children for the past month, and a paternal aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Graves of Concord, Calif. The children range in age from 3 to 17.

In the meantime, a spokesman for the Bank of America branch in Madera reported a trust fund, made up of contributions from persons throughout the world, has reached $50,000.

The bank said it will request the court to grant it permission to set up a living trust that it will administer without charge.

Curtis Publishing Sells Magazines

New York (UPI) — The financially troubled Curtis Publishing Co. sold Ladies' Home Journal and American Home magazines to Downe Communications Inc. Wednesday in a move to get out of the mass circulation magazine field and concentrate on class publications.

The sale for $5.4 million worth of Downe stock was consummated by Martin S. Ackerman, Curtis' economy-minded new president, with the approval of the Curtis board. Ackerman said Curtis will now concentrate on publishing the Saturday Evening Post, Holiday, Jack and Hill and the recently acquired Status.

"These magazines constitute Curtis' specialized market network with a combined circulation of some 5 million in the country's most desirable areas," Ackerman said.

In return for the magazines, Curtis acquired 100,000 shares of Downe common stock — about nine per cent of the outstanding stock. It was quoted around $54 a share Tuesday.

Senator Bartlett Suffers Coronary

East Liverpool, Ohio (AP) — Sen. E. L. Bartlett, D-Alaska, was taken off the river boat Delta Queen after suffering what was reported to be a heart attack Wednesday.

Sen. Bartlett, 64, was reported in satisfactory condition at East Liverpool City Hospital.

The stern wheeler was downbound near Rochester, Pa., near East Liverpool, when he became ill. A physician aboard the boat diagnosed the ailment as a coronary.

The Queen was on a roundtrip tour from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh, Pa., on the Ohio River.

Concern For State Reserve Electrical Power Expressed

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The chairman of the City Power Advisory Board Wednesday urged that more thought be given to the amount of electrical reserves that are available for Nebraska use — "not just for Lincoln, but the whole state."

Campbell's remarks came during a discussion of a recent power blackout affecting Lincoln and other areas of the state.

The blackout was triggered by transmission lines going down during turbulent weather in South Dakota.

Concern Shared

"We all share a common concern in bringing on new firm power generating units," he said.

At the same time, Campbell commented that the Lincoln Electric System "should get the engineering work done on our peaking (lack-up) units as soon as possible."

"Peaking units will give some relief in Lincoln."

Worw Proceeding

LES manager P. T. Baird reported that the system's engineers are investigating the installation of gas turbine units in other cities and that engineering work is proceeding.

He said that it takes approximately a year to install one of the units once financing is secured. The first is slated to be installed at 8th and J.

Baird noted Nebraska Public Power System figures that estimate the statewide peak load for 1969 at 997,000 kilowatts while that system's estimated capacity, with reserves out, plus Bureau of Reclamation commitments, add up to 1,012,000 kilowatts.

To Increase Slightly

The estimates for 1970 show a slightly greater demand than capacity.

The schedules "look tight," said board member Ted Sick.

Baird and special assistant Dale Renner both said they see relief after 1970 in replacement power and new generation, but allowed that 1970 "will be a tight year for power."

Renner noted there is relief for the state in Kansas and Iowa power reserves.

Baird told the board that the LES system for relaying power blackout information to the public will be reviewed.

Johnson Okays Study Of Metric Measures

© New York Times Service

Austin, Tex. — President Johnson Wednesday signed a bill ordering a three-year study to determine whether the United States ought to adopt the metric system of measurements used by an estimated 90% of the world's population.

Wednesday's law is the first pertaining to the metric measure to be enacted since 1866, when Congress made the meter (39.67 inches), liter (1.0567 quarts) and gram (33 thousandths of an ounce) optional for use in the U.S.

Congress directed that the study be made by the Department of Commerce, which is expected to delegate the project to the National Bureau of Standards.

Dr. Alvin G. McNish of the Bureau of Standards, who is expected to conduct the study, said in Washington that the project will proceed slowly for the first year because Congress provided no special funds for it.

The original bill called for an appropriation og $500,000, but it was killed by the House.

Dr. McNish, regarded as the Bureau of Standards' authority on the metric system, said a changeover to the system would cost industry and consumers little if it were well-planned.

In any case, he said, there would be no sudden conversion — partly because the use of metric measurement already is growing rapidly.

Governor To Stay

Hong Kong (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth has extended by one year the term of office of Hong Kong's governor, Sir David Trench, whose administration put down eight months of communist rioting and bombings last year, it was announced.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Denny McLain's Meteoric Rise A Complicated Story

By LEONARD KOPPETT

Cleveland — As Denny McLain goes for the jackpot — 30 victories, a pennant and a six-figure salary next year — the story of this self-possessed 24-year-old becomes intertwined with two of baseball's biggest stars of 20 years ago: John Sain and Lou Boudreau.

Boudreau is McClain's father-in-law, now broadcasting Chicago Cub games. Sain is his pitching coach on the Detroit Tigers. Both have had some effect on McLain's mentality, which is essentially strong-willed and individualistic. And it is the mentality that's the key to McLain's arrival at the threshold of super-stardom.

"I'm a mercenary," he said today, his articulate lips tilting upward in a half-grin. "I love to play this game, but anyone who can't see the dollar potential in it is nuts. And I want to make lots of money. There are certain things I could do with it—like spend it.

"I'm tired now, and my arm is tired, but I'm going for no. 25 Friday night and I don't want any extra days off now. I'll probably get one, around Labor Day, we've already discussed that; but of course I'm thinking about winning 30. I've been thinking about it since I won 15. We have to win the pennant, though — without that, it would be meaningless, for my teammates and for the city. But I think about my career, too."

And McLain's career is not a simple one. He's an expert organist, who will appear soon on various network television shows and who makes commercial recordings. He's alert to all sorts of business and endorsement opportunities. And — most important of all — his approach to pitching is all business.

"I'm out there to win," he said. "I may not have the greatest earned-run average in the world, or the most strike-outs. I'm on a team that scores a lot of runs, often late in the game. So I'm out there determined to stay close, and if I do get a big lead, I'm not going to walk anybody.

"God gave me the ability to throw a fast ball — nobody teaches anybody that. But then you have to work for control, and I have. I've worked hard for a long time, and now I can throw the ball where I want. That's the other part. You have to have an idea with every pitch, just what you want it to do, just how you want the batter to hit it. You may not succeed every time, and even if you do, things may still go wrong. But you have to have the idea.

"In short, I just think I've matured out there."

"He's helped me," said McLain about Sain, "But I can't really describe to you how. The outlook is the main thing. It has to do with positive thinking. He has a way of building up your confidence, and showing you how to think right, and concentrate. He helps with mechanical things, too, but the main thing is mental. I guess part of it is just the respect you come to feel for him."

Back in 1948, when McLain was the four-year-old son of a musician in the Chicago area, Boudreau and Sain were two big names in baseball. Boudreau, shortstop and manager of the Cleveland Indians, led his team to a pennant. Sain, with 24 victories, pitched the Braves to the National League flag.

Denny met Boudreau's daughter at a Babe Ruth League game (for 13-to-15-year-olds) in which McLain was called out on strikes. He slipped the bat away in anger, and it bounced into the stands and hit her. She wasn't hurt, but eventually was smitten.

Such details and others about McLain will pass into American folklore as soon as he reaches the Magic 30.

GIBSON, CARDS FINALLY GET CUBS

SHRINE BOWLERS WORK OUT

The South Shrine Bowl team works out at the Doane College Campus at Crete as two weeks of preparation for the August 24 North-South confrontation at NU Stadium gets underway Wednesday. The South squad is being coached by Kearney High's Ken Reiners. (Staff photo by Harald Dreimanis.)

...Gibby Wins 14th Straight, 3-1

By Associated Press

Sparkling pitching helped move St. Louis and Detroit further along the road to major league baseball pennants Wednesday.

Bob Gibson recorded his 14th straight victory as the Cards, the National League leaders, downed the Chicago Cubs 3-1. Joe Sparma and Mickey Lolich combined for a six-hitter as the Tigers, American League pacesetters, blanked Cleveland 3-0.

Gibson's fine effort enabled St. Louis to end a seven-game losing streak against the Cubs. Orlando Cepeda's double drove in the first Cardinal run and Dal Maxvill's single scored the second to give Gibson, 16-5, all the help he needed.

Bill Freehan's 18th homer launched the Tigers' victory. Gates Brown's single and Norm Cash's triple drove in the other two runs. Lolich replaced Sparma with two on and one out in the fourth inning, struck out a pinch-hitter, Chico Salmon, and got Larry Brown to ground out. Lolich then scattered three hits the rest of the way.

Gaylord Perry pitched a three-hitter and Willie McCovey singled home the winning run in the 10th inning, giving San Francisco a 2-1 victory over Pittsburgh. Mack Jones whacked a three-run homer in the fourth inning and led Cincinnati to a 7-4 triumph over Atlanta.

Rookie Jerry Koosman won his 16th game and Larry Stahl homered as the New York Mets downed Los Angeles 4-1. Don Lock's Grand slam homer in the fourth inning enabled Philadelphia to edge Houston 4-3.

Frank Howard slammed two homers, the second a three-run, 450-foot blast in the ninth, and led Washington to a 4-2 victory over Minnesota. The Oakland A's beat Baltimore 4-1 with help from Reggie Jackson's two-run homer in the sixth.

Ken Harrelson starred for Boston as the Red Sox split a day-night doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox. The White Sox took the opener 5-3 and Boston the nightcap, 7-5. Harrelson's two-game output included two homers, a triple and a double.

The New York Yankees and California were scoreless after three innings of their night game on the West Coast.

Columbus Midgets Use Six Unearned Runs For Crown

. . . DUGDALES STAY ALIVE WITH 9-3 WIN

By VIRGIL PARKER

York — Columbus scored six unearned runs to register a 6-4 victory over Omaha Dall Drug to capture the Class A State Midget Legion baseball title here Wednesday.

The winners broke the scoring ice in the fourth inning with a single run as Steve Wieser moved all the way around on a walk, a balk, a wild pitch and a passed ball.

Dall righthander Dick Penney retired the first two in the fifth frame, but then the roof caved in.

Before the dust cleared, Columbus dented home plate five times as they sandwiched four singles around two costly infield errors.

The Omaha entry, which got a no-hitter from Wayne Piper in the semifinals, brought Piper in to put out the fire, then started a rally of its own.

Dall's picked up two tallies in the sixth and had something going in the final stanza only to have some Brooklyn base-running end the comeback attempt.

Two runs were in with none out when a runner was thrown out at the plate trying to score from second on a shallow single to center and another was doubled off second on an outfield fly to end the game.

In Junior action, a rested Omaha AAMCO squad, winner of three straight, watched from the stands as Bellevue and Omaha Dugdales, both one-time losers, fought for survival.

Final All-Comers Meet Set Friday

The season's fourth and final "all-comers" track meet is scheduled for 6:30 Friday evening at Northeast High.

Track and field competition is scheduled in four groups: ages eight to 10, 11 to 14, 15 to 17, and "open."

Anyone may enter and there is no pre-meet registration required.

PGA President Still Believes Situation Is Not Irreconcilable

. . . TOURNEY PROS EYE TOUR OF THEIR OWN

New York (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association kept the door open to the rebelling tournament pro's Wednesday as players stiffened thier determination to strike out on a tour of their own.

"I don't believe the PGA position has been fairly presented to the players," said Max Elbin, PGA president, from his office at the Burning Tree Golf Club in Bethesda, Md.

"We would like to appear before a meeting of all the men so that we can present the facts of the case. I don't believe — when the issues are aired — that the situation is irreconcilable."

Gardner Dickinson, Jr., chairman of the Players Tournament Committee, said he felt a limit had been reached in negotiations.

"The PGA knows what we want and has refused to budge," Dickinson said. "I honestly wish that we could get together, but it doesn't appear possible. I just hope it isn't nasty."

The tournament players, through their New York attorney Sam Gates, announced Tuesday that they would divorce the PGA, at the end of existing tournament contracts, and form an independent organization for conduct of the $5.6 million tour.

The action caught tournament sponsors, television officials and many of the players themselves by surprise.

The 16-man PGA executive committee has called an emergency meeting Friday at the national headquarters in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. Sponsors have been summoned to a meeting in Houston Sept. 5-6.

"I don't think the sponsors know which way to turn," said a Pensacola, Fla., vice-president of the sponsors association representing 33 of 43 sponsors. The players may wind up cooling their heels for a year."

More optimistic was Paul Warren, who runs the tournaments at Atlanta, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Orlando and Jacksonville.

"I think the two groups will get together," he said, "They need each other."

The players, demanding greater control of the tour, were showing no inclination to bend, although many expressed regrets at leaving the PGA.

Ron Cerrudo and Lee Elder, two newcomers to the tour, said they were nervous over the action at first.

"We thought only the top 50 players would form the new group," Cerrudo said. "Then Jack Nicklaus told us that the players would open their tournaments to everybody who stuck with them. So we stuck."

Howie Johnson said the split may result in two tours, one by the top pros and another by the PGA. "We need two tours — there's not room for 30 players," he added.

Some of the older pros, such as former PGA champion Vic Ghezzi, shraply criticized the players, calling them "selfish."

"Where would Palmer or Nicklaus be without the PGA?" Ghezzi asked.

The pro rebels said that an announcement probably would be made Monday on plans for an independent tour.

Sponsors Want Greater Voice

. . . MONEY SPEAKS, TOO

Minneapolis Minn. (AP) — The long-simmering Professional Golfers Association feud, which broke into open revolt Tuesday, is not only a fight within the PGA itself but involves a third force — the tournament sponsors.

And, the president of the International Golf Sponsors Association says, the people who do the work to stage the tournaments on the pro golf tour are prepared to wage a little battle of their own to get a stronger voice.

The IGSA represents 33 of the 43 tour sponsors.

"What really concerns me and all of the tournament sponsors," said Angus M. Mairs of Minneapolis Wednesday, "is the fact that while the players and the PGA have been arguing about which group would control the $5.6 million golf tour, no consideration has been given to the people who raise the money."

Mairs, openly pleased that the PGA feud had finally broken into open revolt, said sponsors are greatly concerned about the economics of tour golf. He added:

"For years, I have argued that the tourist income and the nationwide publicity which a city derives from a golf tournament is worth a great deal more than the total outlay. Recently, however, we note that charities are receiving less and less. Hours of donated manpower are necessary just to reach break-even status. In the case of commercial tournaments, corporate executives are concerned that a relatively stable amount of exposure is requiring an increasing percentage of their total advertising budgets.

"The PGA, if it attempts to continue its tour without 50 or more of the top stars, cannot expect the sponsors to maintain their purses at present levels. There will have to be a recessionary period until the current 'youngsters,' who already can match shots with the established stars, have had time to become better known."

Mairs said, "there seems to be a major question which so far has remained unanswered. Where are the players going to play?

"Most courses currently being used are staffed by PGA pros — that is, the opposition — and are sympathetic with the organization which has sponsored the local tournaments in the past. The entire community, in fact, is similarly sympathetic.

"Without the tremendous support which business communities contribute to golf tournaments, these events would be reduced in number to a select group of television specials."

Montreal 'IN' At Long Last

Montreal (AP) — Montreal secured its National League baseball franchise Wednesday.

Sponsors of the team beat the deadline by more than 24 hours when they turned over a check for $1,120,000 in United States funds to league president Warren Giles at a news conference here.

At the same time, John McHale, a leading baseball figure, was named president and chief executive of the team and Jim Fanning, a close friend of McHale, was named general manager.

Lester B. Pearson, former Prime Minister of Canada, was named honorary president of the still unnamed team.

The $1,120,000 was the initial payment of the $10 million franchise fee.

"Montreal is now a fledged member of the league," Giles told a jammed-packed audience.

Charles Bronfman, a leading sponsor of the new team, was named chairman of the board of the Montreal syndicate while Paul Beaudry, a new backer and Montreal cement company executive, and Lorne Webster, an original backer, were named vice-chairman.

McHale, who has ben connected with organized baseball for 28 years, announced the club has hired three scouts — Ed Lopat, Bobby Bragan and Johnny Moore, all former big league players.

McHale, who held the post as administrator in baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert's office, said he joined the club because he had a chance to invest in it and because of the challenge of handling a new club.

King-Lee Team Wins With 3

. . . COLUMBUS RACES

Columbus — Jockey Dave King and R. E. (Bob) Lee, last year's leading Columbus trainer, combined to win three races on the second day of the meeting here Wednesday.

The King and Lee winners were Dear Eyes in the second, Shepards Dream in the sixth and Linker in the eighth. Linker is owned by Ed Sunberg of Audubon, Iowa, while Lee and Sunberg share ownership of Dear Eyes and Shepards Dream.

Another Audubon, Iowan, apprentice jockey Dennis Baxter, also had a good day. Baxter, a 19-year-old, 100-pounder, got his first win on a recognized track when he brought in Two Eyed Jack in the fourth race.

V. Orduna's Hard Running Draws Praise

Crete (AP) — Vince Orduna Wednesday continued to led the way in the South Shrine Bowl football camp.

Coach Ken Reiners singled out the former Omaha Central High back for hard running after the second day of twice-a-day workouts.

"He's running as hard as anyone I've seen," Reiners said.

Other backs winning praise were Lanny Graves of Beatrice and Jeff Kinney, McCook. Reiners also had good words for Nate McKinney of Boys Town.

Reiners said he would select offensive and defensive units Thursday.

Quarterbacks Max Linder of Plattsmouth, Mike McGuire of Bellevue and Chris Kruas of Madrid were introduced to passing of the "I" formation. They were throwing "quite well," Reiners said.

For good defensive efforts, Reiners singled out Sam Ryan of Omaha South, Scott Dosek of Lincoln Pius X, John Kropp of Aurora and Larry Beckler of Seward.

After two days of looking at his ends, Reiners said they are "above average" and naming starters will be a tough job.

Wednesday's session wound up with a series of wind sprints which brought smiles to Reiners' face. "They are really going after it," he said.

After Just 2 Weeks Of Play, Pro Grid's Injury List Long

. . . 5 SIGNAL-CALLERS ON BENCH

New York (AP) — The exhibition season is only two weeks old and already many of the teams in both the National Football League and American Football League have been hit by injuries, especially to quarterbacks and running backs.

The list of injured and those still trying to come back from the damaged group and from operations includes such key players as quarterbacks Norm Snead, Joe Namath, Sonny Jurgensen, John Stofa and Bill Munson and running backs Les Josephson, Ernie Green, Keith Lincoln and Curtis McClinton.

Snead, the No. 1 signal caller of the NFL's Philadelphia Eagles, suffered a broken bone above the left ankle in the first play against Detroit. He's expected to be out from 10 to 12 weeks.

Jurgensen, the ace of the Washington Redskins, still is recuperating from elbow surgery. Bill Munson, quarterback of the Detroit Lions, has been out with injuries but he is expected back soon.

Pittsburgh quarterback Dick Shiner probably will be out from four to six weeks with a back injury. Jim Ward, Baltimore's backup for Johnny Unitas, will be sidelined for three or four weeks with sprained knee.

In the AFL, the new Cincinnati Bengals got a tough break when Stofa, their No. 1 passer, twisted a knee that will keep him out of Saturday's game with Boston at Richmond, Va.

Josephson, the hard-driving runner for the Los Angeles Rams, has been sidelined with a pulled muscle. A knee injury probably will keep Cleveland's Ernie Green out of all of the exhibition contests.

McClinton, star fullback of the Kansas City Chiefs, will be out of action for at least three weeks because of a broken cheekbone suffered against Minnesota.

Lincoln, No. 1 rusher of the Buffalo Bills, had two ribs cracked in the Miami exhibition and figures to be out for several weeks.

The Bills also lost starting guard Joe O'Donnell for the season because of knee surgery.

Denver's Dave Costa, a defensive tackle, is out with a bad hamstring pull.

Surgery also cost the Eagles guard Jim Skaggs and middle linebacker Ike Kelley.

The Chicago Bears probably won't get much help from defensive end Marty Amsler. He's out with a torn achilles tendon.

Lee Webb, Ex-NSAA Head, Dies

Orie L. (Lee) Webb, former secretary of the Nebraska Schools Activities Association (NSAA), died Wednesday at the age of 79.

Mr. Webb, a resident of Eastmont Manor, had been secretary of the NSAA for 21 years, from 1934 to 1955.

When he became secretary the organization was called the Nebraska High School Athletic Association, but later expanded into all extra-curricular activities.

A native of Iowa, Mr. Webb attended Coe (Iowa) College and Bellevue College in Nebraska.

In 1914 he became football coach in Weeping Water and later was basketball and track coach at Columbus. He served as prinicipal at Columbus for six years and was superintendent at David City for 12 years.

Services are pending at Roper and Sons' Mortuary at 4300 O.

Omahan Qualifies

Kansas City (AP) — George Sinderson of Kansas City and Gene Elstun of Omaha were among 31 teams qualifying Wednesday in the Heart of America 4-ball invitational golf tournament.

Their score at the end of two days was 67-73—140. The cut-off was 143.

Schuyler, Geneva Win

Broken Bow — Alvie Carson tossed a three-hitter as Schuyler edged Morrill, 1-0, in the first round of the State Class B Legion Junior baseball tourney here Wednesday night.

In a later game Geneva rode the two-hit pitching of Brian Kamler to a 3-0 victory over Aurora.

Kamler struck out 15 batters in the seven-inning contest and fanned at least two in every inning except the sixth.

The double elimination tournament was originally scheduled to start last Saturday but was washed out by a five-inch rain.

Tonight's games pit Morrill against Aurora at 6:30 and Schuyler against Geneva at 8:30.

Ron Holmberg Corrals New York Net Crown

New York (AP) — Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y., defeated Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico 6-0, 6-4 in the finals Wednesday of the New York International tennis tournament in Central Park.

Holmberg later teamed with Chuck McKinley, Bedford, N.Y. to win the doubles final from Loyo-Mayo and Ray Moore, South Africa, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

King's, Roberts Teams Draw 1st-Round Byes

. . . SOFTBALL TOURNEY OPENS TODAY

Two of Lincoln's four entrants in the State AAA Softball Tournament, Roberts-Skyline and King's Food Hosts, drew first round byes for the four-day event opening today at Ballard Field.

Roberts-Skyline, local district champions, will not play until 6 p.m. Friday against the winner of a Thursday contest between Eddie's Tavern of Grand Island and DeWitt.

King's, defending state champs and winners of nine titles in the past 12 years, but runnerup in the city this year, play at 10:30 p.m. Friday night against the survivor of a game between the Pizza Hut of Hastings and Roode's of Fairbury on Thursday.

Two more clubs drew opening round byes in the 12-team affair — Central Nebraska Co-op of Kearney and the Scottsbluff Sports Center.

Lincoln's other two teams, both named as hosts for the tourney — Bob's Tavern and KOLN-TV, will both be in action Thursday.

Bob's, 1967 state Class A winners, will meet the Brass Rail Bar of Clarkson at 7:30 p.m., while KOLN takes on the Oasis Bar of Columbus at 9 p.m. on the first day.

There are five teams in the tourney who were in the event last year, Roberts-Skyline, King's and KOLN from Lincoln, plus De Witt and the Scottsbluff Sports Center.

King's won the crown in 1967 in four straight games, taking Roberts-Skyline, 3-1 in the finals. A pitching duo of Lefty Sheary and Darrell Dubsky, the latter imported from Stanton, allowed only one run to opponents.

A new ruling this year, however, prevents teams from putting out-of-town players on their rosters. The two allowed additions must come from among the other district competitors.

Game times for the double elimination affair are at 6, 7:30, 9 and 10:30 p.m. on Thursday and Friday. On Saturday, it's 9 and 10:30 a.m., 12 noon, 1:30, 3, 4:30, 6, 7:30, 9 and 10:30 p.m.

Small-Game Seasons Should Change Little

. . . DUCKS EXCEPTED

By United Press International

State game officials said Wednesday they expect the length of hunting seasons for small game and the possession and bag limits will be "about the same this year as last year," with the exception of ducks.

The official hunting seasons will be announced next Friday at the Game Commission meeting.

The officials said a severe drought in the northern Great Plains has seriously hampered duck breeding during the past summer and it is expected federal regulations will be much tighter this year than last year on duck hunting.

The pheasant, quail and cottontail populations in Nebraska are about the same and the hunting regulations should be about the same for all three, they said.

Last year the cock pheasant season ran from Nov. 4 to Jan. 21, with a daily bag limit of four and a possession limit of 16. The cock and hen season ran from Jan. 1 to Jan. 21 with a bag limit of four and possession limit of 16.

The 1967 quail season ran from Nov. 10 to Jan. 21 with a daily bag limit of six and a possession limit of 18.

Cottontail hunting was permitted all year with a bag limit of 10 and possession limit of 30.

The Game Commission already has announced the cock pheasant and quail season will open Nov. 2 in most of Nebraska with an opening date of Nov. 9 for the portion of the state east of U.S. 81 and south of U.S. 34.

The goose season ran a total of 75 days last year and the bag and possession limit was five. Only two of the geese bagged in a day could be Canada geese and only one could be a white fronted goose.

The squirrel season ran from Sept. 1 to Feb. 29 with a bag limit of seven and a possession limit of 21.

Miss Seidler Slings Shot

Aurora, Colo. (AP) — Maren Seidler of Plainfield, N.J., established an American girls' and championship meet record Wednesday when she hurled the shot put 51 feet 5¼ inches in the qualifying round of the National AAU Girls Track and Field Championships here.

Miss Seidler, representing the Shore Athletic Club, surpassed her own championship meet record of 49-3 set in 1967 at Santa Barbara, Calif. The American girls record was 51-5 set in 1965 by Lynn Graham of Los Angeles.

Mary Boron of the Canton, Ohio Track Club, led seven qualifiers in the javelin with a throw of 144 feet 4 inches.

Best of seven qualifiers in the long jump was Barbara Emerson of the Crown Cities Track Club, Los Angeles, with 19 feet 2 inches.

Katherine Jones of Mayor Daley's Track Club in Chicago was the fastest of 20 qualifiers in the 50-yard dash, with a 5.9 second performance.

In the 100-yard dash, Charlotte Hawkins of Colorado Olympic Club tied with Willis Maenichols of Bakersfield, Calif., at 10.9 seconds. There were 24 qualifiers.

Esther Stroy of Sports International Track Club, Washington, D.C., toured the 440 run in 54.9 seconds, leading a field of 21 qualifiers.

Communist Terrorist Front In Uruguay Has Vietnam Namesake

By JACK BRANNAN
United Press International

A Communist terrorist front again active in Uruguay, the Tupamaros, has an ominously familiar official title — the National Liberation Front.

Like its namesake in South Vietnam, nicknamed the Viet Cong, the Uruguayan front also adopted a label more attuned to the ear and the speech of the people it hopes to influence.

The Uruguayans composed their nickname from the name of an Inca Indian chief, Tupac Amaru, who led an unsuccessful revolution against Spain in what is now Peru in the 18th century.

The Tupamaros organized in 1964 and at first limited themselves to stealing food from warehouses and hijacked trucks and distributing it among the poor. It was a Robin Hood approach designed to win the confidence of the lower classes, and strikingly similar to the formative operations of the older, better organized Viet Cong.

Within a year, however, the Tupamaros had become a full-fledged terrorist organization advocating violent change in Uruguay, South America's smallest nation and generally its most peaceful and democratic.

Their first act of political violence came in 1965 and was directed against the offices of a United States shipping company, Moore-McCormack Lines. They firebombed the company's Montevideo offices, then followed up with similar attacks against offices of the First National City Bank of New York and the All-America Cables Co., a subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph, Inc.

The Uruguayan government, which gives legal status to the Communist Party, outlawed the Tupamaros as a Communist revolutionary front. Police tried to smash it. But the Tupamaros fought back, robbing banks to finance their operations, killing several policemen in their clashes, and all the while advocating violent overthrow of Uruguay's democratic government.

After several months of inactivity due to a state of siege imposed on the country, the Tupamaros sprang back into action Aug. 7 with their most daring terrorist act yet.

They kidnaped a personal adviser to President Jorge Areco Pacheco from the doorstep of his home, wounding a chauffeur and a secretary who tried to intervene. It was the first political kidnaping in Uruguay's history.

The president himself ordered 3,000 policemen mobilized and a precedent-shattering raid on the National University in the search for the kidnap victim, Ulyses Pereira Reverbal. Pereira, a director of the state-owned telephone company, was considered the principal formulator of the government's strike-banning crackdown on the country's Communist-led labor unions, whose continuous strikes have pushed once prosperous Uruguay to the verge of bankruptcy.

Despite the largest manhunt in Uruguayan history and violent student repercussions from the university raid, police found no trace of Pereira until the Tupamaros themselves drugged and releazed him Sunday after 108 hours of captivity.

Police officials estimate the Tupamaros' strength at between 500 and 600, including a number of women.

Sen. Morton Joins Nixon Campaign

San Diego, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon enlisted one of defeated rival Nelson Rockefeller's top strategists Wednesday as a special traveling adviser in his Republican presidential campaign.

Sen. Thruston Martin, R-Ky., chairman of the Rockefeller for President Committee, met with Nixon at the candidate's beachside resort campaign headquarters and agreed to join his campaign after Labor Day.

"This is the year we can put it together and win," Nixon said to Morton, who had worked on his losing 1960 presidential race.

Governors Called

Working to present a united front to the Democrats in the fall, Nixon also telephoned four more Republican governors and, aides said, received pledges of all possible help from them.

They were Govs. John Love of Colorado, Dan Evans of Washington, John Chafee of Rhode Island and Harold Levander of Minnesota.

Love, Evans and Chafee all backed the New York governor for the party's nomination. Tuesday, Nixon telephoned Rockefeller and New York Mayor John Lindsay, a Rockefeller supporter.

And Nixon placed calls to Barry Goldwater the 1964 nominee, who said he would help as much as his own U.S. Senate election campaign would permit, and William Scranton, former governor of Pennsylvania.

Nixon announced Morton's appointment to newsmen on the lawn outside the four-story hotel building where his staff is working. The senator, who has known Nixon since both were freshmen congressmen in 1946, was at his side.

Advice On Issues

He said Morton would advise him on issues and on U.S. Senate campaigns. Later, Morton told newsmen he was confident that Rockefeller will campaign actively for the GOP ticket "without my talking to him, but I'll talk to him."

As for Rockefeller support around the country, Morton said, "I anticipate no difficutly in getting it, but one of the reasons I'm going along is to make sure we get it."

All through the day, Nixon talked with Morton, Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss and political leaders from key statutes about how to win the election. The main subject — winning the urban vote.

Bliss told a news conference that the GOP is now prepared to run strongly in the urban areas which he said cost Nixon election in 1960.

"We're going into this campaign better prepared organizationally than we have been for years," he said. "I think Nixon will do very well in the big cities."

He said his staff was working on a plan to capture the Negro vote and said he didn't think that the nomination of Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland for vice president would hurt the ticket despite the protests of some Negro leaders.

Mint Master Dies

Ottawa (AP) — Norval A. Parker, master of the Royal Canadian Mint, died in an Ottawa hospital Wednesday night after a long illness. He was 58.

HUFFING, PUFFING FOR THE PRIZE

McCarthy Urges Bigger Housing Plan

© New York Times Service

Washington — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy proposed a new national housing program Wednesday, saying that existing programs helped only the rich and the middle class and were "insensitive" to the needs of the poor.

He charged that the Department of Housing and Urban Development had made no effort to open the suburbs to low-income families and had failed to penalize communities that established housing codes and zoning barriers against low-cost housing. He suggested that the department should have used its grants-in-aid as a lever against suburban opposition to an influx of the poor.

The Minnesota senator, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, proposed an annual housing goal so that the six million housing units recommended by the President's Commission on Civil Disorders as a minimum for the next five years could be constructed.

Public And Private

Federal funds should be made available to both public and private agencies currently engaged in promoting fair housing, he said, with incentives to private industry to enter low-income housing.

He proposed that federally financed housing be coupled with programs to teach job skills, provide managerial training and channel income into the neighborhood by allowing future residents to help with the building.

Existing federal programs should be rewritten, he said, to include greater autonomy for local governments through block grants, fewer controls and regulations, and less administrative structure.

Reliance Futile

McCarthty said it was futile to rely on private enterprise to salvage the rotting inner cores of cities.

"The fact is," he said, "that private industry has almost never built low-cost housing for low-income families."

Returning to Washington from a Western campaign tour that culminated in an enthusiastic rally of more than 10,000 in St. Louis, McCarthy spent the day preparing a major speech he will deliver Thursday night in New York.

Aides said he would review the points he hopes the Democratic National Convention platform committee will adopt in the plank on Vietnam.

McCarthy said he would not make a personal appearance before the platform committee. A draft plank on Vietnam is being completed by McCarthy aides under the direction of Richard Goodwin, former speech writer for President Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. The plank will be submitted to the platform committee when it convenes in Washington next Monday.

Newsman Hurt In Vain Effort To Halt Escapee

Omaha (AP) — A newsman for radio station KFAB suffered a cut on his head Wednesday when he tried to prevent a Council Bluffs, Iowa, man from escaping from Central Police Station.

Joe Niemann, 36, news editor for KFAB and KFAB reporter Steve Collins, 24, were walking upstairs at the station when the man started downstairs and a policeman shouted "catch him."

The two lunged for the man and Niemann's head hit a radiator at a landing. He was treated at Methodist Hospital.

The escapee, later identified as Lonnie Brownfield, 21, was being taken to the first floor desk for booking on charges of writing bad checks in Glenwood and Des Moines, Iowa. He fled down an alley eluding pursuers.

Neanderthals Found

Moscow (UPI) — A team of Soviet geologists and archeologists reported they discovered a settlement of Neanderthal men, about 60,000 years old, in the Pechora river basin in the Arctic circle about 700 miles north of Moscow.

Music news is covered thoroughly in the "Sunday Journal and Star."

But-DEAF INITELY

by C. W. Strom
Certified Hearing Aid Audiologist

How can deficient hearing be discovered in a child?
I have told you about how this can be done up to two years of age. Alert parents will discover that during the year from two to three that the child's understanding of words has not increased and does not follow more complex demands than he previously did.
His speaking vocabulary has not increased!
The child would possibly have a gibberish language of his own and must watch the speaker's face and gestures closely to understand what is said.
If there is any indication of a hearing loss, bring it to the attention of your Pediatrician or Ear Doctor.
Call or write me about MAICO's procedure. Phone 432-1967 at our MAICO-Otten office at 7173 Sharp Bldg., Lincoln.

Wheat Prices Climb Again

Chicago (AP) — Most wheat futures prices posted fractional gains for the second straight day on the Board of Trade Wednesday and most soybeans contracts advanced moderately.

Corn and oats made little headway in either direction, but rye scored fair gains ranging up to more than a cent a bushel.

Wheat prices rallied early in the session, turned down on profit taking and then made a partial recovery near the close. With wheat in a long price downtrend, many traders felt the market was ripe for a correction. There was considerable speculative investment buying after the market moved higher on purchases for export.

The August and September soybean meal contracts posted seasonal highs and that gave some strength to soybeans.

Corn prices made little change on light volume after an initial flurry when a leading export firm reportedly bought the September delivery and sold December and a major miller sold fair quantities of September to an elevator firm.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1 cent a bushel higher, September $1.18⅝; corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, September $1.05⅝; oats unchanged, September 57½ cents; rye ⅞ to 1⅛ higher, September $1.09 and soybeans ⅝ lower to ⅝ higher, August $2.67¾.

Fed Steers Are Steady To Higher

Omaha (AP) — Better quality fed steers with weight pulled further ahead of the herd in a steady to 25 cent higher trade Wednesday.

The advance was limited for the most part to choice and prime beeves scaling upwards of 1,150 lbs. There was a fairly representative offering of such cattle scattered around the market. Heifers sold fully steady, best demand here, too, centering on better finished offerings.

Cows and bulls were unchanged.

Choice to prime beeves were farily numerous. A load of prime 1,357 lb. Nebraska-fed offerings topped at $29.25.

Heifers scaling 1,006 lbs. and grading choice to prime topped at $27.60.

A steady to lower trend at wholesale kept the cow market from staging any recovery. Light supplies held the market steady, however. The practical beef top was $18.75, a few $19.00-19.25.

Hogs sold steady to 25 cents higher. Bulk 200-240 lb. barrows and gilts $19.25-19.75. Sows bunched under a $18.50 practical limit.

Fat lambs sold steady in active trading. Both wooled and shorn offerings sold even at $25.75-26.00 for choice and prime quality with weight Ewes were steady.

Construction For School Begins Soon

Construction of junior-senior high school facilities at the former Agnew missile site is tentatively planned to begin Monday, according to the contractor, John C. Beall of Beall Construction Co.

Earlier this week Beall Construction Co. was awarded the contract for the building at a price of $962,449. Beall's base bid of $1,128,483 had been reduced by the deduction of outdoor athletic facilities.

The school district, in an election Feb. 27, approved a bond issue of $995,000 to cover construction.

The school represents a reorganization of school districts. The new Central Public School District includes Ceresco, Valparaiso, Raymonf and a number of rural school districts.

According to Supt. Jerry Mullins of Ceresco, classes this year will begin Aug. 27, with elementary classes held at Raymond, Valparaiso and Ceresco, junior high classes at Valparaiso and senior high classes at Ceresco.

Mullins said the construction contract runs until Aug. 15, 1969, the date when the district opens to move into its new junior-senior high school.

Iowan, 19, Found Guilty Of Refusal To Be Inducted

Omaha (AP) — John Michael Brand, 19, Sioux City, Iowa, has been found guilty by a Federal District Court jury of refusing to be inducted into the armed services.

Chief Federal District Judge Richard E. Robinson deferred sentence pending an investigation by the probation office.

Young Brand, a member of the Jehovah's Witnesses, refused to take the necessary ceremonial step forward at the Omaha induction center April 4.

Thomad Dowd, assistant U.S. district attorney, said the youth's father, George, testified he also refused because of the dictates of his conscience to serve on two occasions in World War II.

Omaha's Budget At $43,145,344 Given Approval

Omaha (AP) — One of the largest city budgets in Omaha history has won approval of the City Council.

Adopted unanimously and without discussion was a 1969 budget totaling $43,145,344. It includes a voter-approved 1.5 mill tax increase, bringing the city's total property tax levy for next year to 24.5 mills.

The budget total was as Mayor A. V. Sorensen recommended to the council one month ago.

The budget means that the owner of a home valued for tax purposes at $15,000 will be paying about $7.85 more in city property taxes in 1969 than in 1968.

Yellow Cab Fare Hikes Approved For North Platte

The Nebraska Railway Commission reported Wednesday it has approved fare increases for the North Platte Yellow Cab Co.

For the first one-third mile or fractions thereof traveled, the fare is increased from 45 to 50 cents. The charge for each two minutes of waiting time is increased from 15 to 20 cents, and the rate for country drives is increased from 30 to 40 cents for each one-way mile, a commission spokesman said.

The rate increase authorization took effect immediately.

Japan Firm OKs Buying State Patent

Kyoto, Japan (UPI) — Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann of Nebraska said Wednesday he has successfully concluded negotiations with a Japanese firm for sale of sugar ester, a tallow-sugar product, developed in his home state.

"We are extremely pleased with the outcome of the negotiations," the Republican governor said.

Tiemann and two other Nebraska state officials have been in this ancient Japanese cultural city since last Saturday for negotiations with Japan's Daiichi Mogyo Seiyaku Co.

Tiemann said his state, which owns the patent on sugar ester, held preliminary negotiations with the Japanese firm last May.

'And I am pleased to report that we concluded the negotiations today (Wednesday) and that we will sign tomorrow," Tiemann said.

The agreement, the governor said, will bring financial benefits to Nebraska and represents a "significant breakthrough" in trade relations between Japan and Nebraska.

He said he did not wish to discuss details of the contract "until we sign the papers."

The governor said he and his party will leave Thursday for home.

Omaha Branch Of Urban League Changes Name

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Urban League has changed its name and scope of operation to include other areas of the state.

K. Patrick Okura, league president, said the new name will be the Urban League of Nebraska.

He said the change will permit the league to assist minority group students at the University of Nebraska and the state colleges, particularly with problems in housing and employment.

Forty-one more scholarships totaling $13,685 from the Martin Luther King Scholarship Fund have been awarded.

Joseph A. Cowans, scholarship coordinator for the Urban League, said 74 disadvantaged Omaha students have now received scholarships totaling $27,460.

Cowans said the scholarship fund has $107,254 remaining.

Near North Side Property Owners' Complaints Due

Omaha (AP) — Representative of the State Insurance Department will visit Omaha's Near North Side next Wednesday to hear property owners' complaints about cancellation and rate increases on insurance policies.

Donald Erway, administrative assistant to State Insurance Director Benjamin Neff, said, "We hope to get a better view of how widespread the problem is. After the session, complaints will be documented and insurance companies will be contacted to find out why policies were canceled."

Earl Nelson, the department's supervisor of claims and inquiries, said some companies don't want to write insurance in the area but other companies will.

"The problem is to direct the people to those that will," Nelson said.

Mrs. Bostwick Fails To Appear For Sentencing

Omaha (AP) — District Judge James P. O'Brien was told that Mrs. Maxine Steva Bostwick, 36, of Omaha, was unable to appear for sentencing because she was in the hospital.

Judge O'Brien ordered her attorney to obtain reports from her physician.

Mrs. Bostwick was to have been sentenced in May on a charge of forging about $13,000 in checks of her employer.

She had pleaded no contest but was reported in the hospital at the time of sentencing.

In July she was arrested and charged with embezzling $17,500 from another employer. She also has been charged with two other embezzlements and is awaiting sentencing on two counts of federal income tax evasion.
